POWERFUL FACTION TO BE ANTAGONIZED

In Letter, President Says That It Is Inconceivable to Him America Should Turn Down Plan.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, March 5.—President Harding is going over the head of the United States senate to ask the support of the people for his proposal to join the permanent international court of justice at the Hague. He has started on a long controversy with a powerful faction within his own party which may lead directly into the next presidential campaign.

Just before he left for Florida, the president gave unmistakable evidence of his intention to challenge the power of the Borah-Johnson-La Follette faction in the senate. His purpose is to summon the power of public opinion against those within his own party who would resist his efforts to lend the strengthening hand of the United States to the international tribunal. It promises to be a fight as full of rancor as that which Woodrow Wilson precipitated when he tried to force the league of nations upon a hostile senate. For the United States senate has always been jealous of its jurisdiction over the nation's foreign policy, and especially so since it won out in the great test case which the league of nations issue provided.

Letter to Bloom.

The white house made public on Monday an important letter which the president wrote to Lieutenant Governor Earl D. Bloom, of Ohio, acknowledging a resolution of the Ohio senate commending the international court proposal. In that letter, President Harding made this significant statement:

"I may say frankly that it is inconceivable to me that the American people, who have so long been devoted to this issue, should refuse their adherence now to such a program as is represented by this tribunal."

President Harding intends to make his international court suggestion the main theme of his speech-making tour through the west this summer. He confidently expects to start such a backfire from the country that when the senators return here next December they will not dare oppose him. Logically, the president can count on support from all pro-league republicans, and all pro-league democrats. Then he has a large body of opinion which, though usually of the league of nations, favors the international court idea.

Will Have Help.

Such powerful figures as Elihu Root, George W. Vickersham, and Henry Taft can be counted upon to use their influence within the republican party. While democrats criticize the proposal as belated, cannot consistently oppose it, and many have already signified their intention of supporting it.

This leaves only the small group of extreme irrevocables to carry on the opposition. They could conceivably filibuster for some weeks after the new congress meets but, with the country and the majority of the senate against them, such obstructive tactics could not last long.

Therefore, the president is reasonably sure of winning the senate's consent before the next presidential campaign gets fully underway. With that achievement to point to, he believes that he will be well-armed against democratic assault on his foreign policy.

DEATH OF HON. JOHN SCHLEY.

Born February 16th, 1838—Died 4th of March, 1923.

The startling intelligence was announced in the city yesterday that Hon. John Schley, a gentleman long and favorably known in Savannah, had suddenly died at his residence on Perry street, between Barnard and Whitaker.

For some time past, Mr. Schley had been residing at his place at Beulah, near the city, and had only last week returned to his home in Savannah.

Always active and energetic, he had gone to his wood pile yesterday about noon, and taking an axe, had been chopping for some time when, experiencing a strange sensation in the region of his chest, he fell backward into his residence, and, falling face down, he died.

He was 84 years of age, and was a brother of Hon. William Schley, the present judge of the Eastern Circuit, and of Dr. J. M. Schley, one of the most prominent physicians in Savannah.

His physicians pronounced that congestion of the heart was the cause of his death.

Mr. Schley was the eldest son of the late Judge Schley, who for a long time and ably occupied the bench upon the Augusta Circuit, and was born in the city of Augusta on the 16th day of February, 1838—being at the time of his death sixty-five years old.

He was a brother of Hon. William Schley, the present judge of the Eastern Circuit, and of Dr. J. M. Schley, one of the most prominent physicians in Savannah.

Replies.

Another stormy chapter in the turbulent police controversy of Atlanta, which has held the political spotlight since the new city council came into power on January 1, was written in city council meeting Monday afternoon when sensational charges and counter-charges of a personal nature were hurled by members of opposing factions at one another while matters relating to the police department were under discussion.

Two recommendations favored by the police committee, on which adverse reports were made by the finance committee, for salary increases to Captain T. O. Sturdivant, of the plain clothes squad, and W. F. Morris, secretary to the police committee, were the basis of charges directed against the police committee as a whole and against individual members. On both recommendations council by a vote of 17 to 3 adopted the adverse reports of the finance committee.

Committee Assailed.

Introduction of these resolutions brought forth a heated attack on the police committee and its chairman, Alderman J. L. Carpenter, and Councilman J. A. Couch, both of whom charged the committee with "exceeding its authority," in matters pertaining to administration of the police force.

Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, chairman of the police committee, defended the committee for its actions and scored enemies of the committee, stating that a "character assailing" is busy in the city hall defaming the personal character of police committee members.

While denouncing foes of the committee, Alderman Armistead was interrupted by Councilman Couch, who questioned him regarding the recent visit of Mr. Armistead to Memphis, where he went to study police conditions.

"Rumors have been prevalent at the city hall and on the streets," declared Councilman Couch, "that on your recent visit to Memphis you were accompanied by Bert Donaldson, an ex-convict. I would like to know if this is true?"

Proud of Donaldson.

"My visit to Memphis," replied Alderman Armistead, "was purely a personal matter, but I do not object to answering your question. Mr. Bert Donaldson, a licensed and ordained minister of the gospel did accompany me on this trip and I am happy to say that he rendered me valuable aid on my mission. I am proud of the fact that I had Mr. Donaldson with me."

"For the benefit of Mr. Couch and others I'd like to say that I consider Mr. Donaldson as clean a man as I have ever known. I do not think it a disgrace to go anywhere with him. It is true that he is an ex-convict and is true."

"Day by day, in every way, I have more and more confidence in my own ability to get rich."

That, in plain words, without frills, is her mission in life.

Just produce some poor unfortunate financially-wrecked individual and Mrs. Cleaver will put on her thinking cap, struggle with the problem for a few minutes and—Presto! An idea that means health, wealth, and all the happiness that goes with 'em, is born and the unfortunate poorhouse candidate is transformed, in a month or two, into a success in the business world.

Mother Is Florist.

Mrs. Cleaver is, as stated in the first paragraph above, a native Georgian. Her father, Walter Nelson, was for 25 years a merchant in Macon.

BRITISH CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN CONTEST CHARGES HIT BY MAYFIELD

Quit Position in Cabinet of Bonar Law Following Recent Defeats in the
By-Elections.

BY RALPH H. TURNER
(United News Staff Correspondent)

London, March 5.—Defeat of two cabinet ministers at the polls has dealt the prestige of Bonar Law's Tory government a severe blow. The regime of the prime minister may totter, in the opinion of many, unless he hastily takes steps to placate the electorate of England.

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, minister of health, and Colonel G. F. Stanley, under secretary for home affairs, were beaten in by-elections when they stood to retain their seats in the house of commons, according to official returns which were announced Monday.

Sir Arthur was defeated in the contest in the Mitcham district by J. C. Ede, a labor candidate. Stanley was unseated at Willesden by Harcourt Johnstone, 26-year-old Asquithian liberal, whose mother is the sister of Gifford Pinchot, the governor of Pennsylvania.

Stanley immediately handed in his resignation to Bonar Law and Sir Arthur must either resign or stand for re-election in some other by-election as all ministers must have seats in the commons.

Chief Cause for Rout.

"The government's indefinite housing policy and its reported intention to remove restrictions prohibiting rent increases are believed to be the chief cause for the rout of the ministers. The polling, also, reflected the dissatisfaction with the government for failure to make good on the promise of 'back to tranquility,' the campaign slogan of Bonar Law in the election following Lloyd George's repudiation.

Tranquility, England's equivalent to normalcy, is even more remote now than when Bonar Law rode into office. Unemployment is just as serious, taxation is just as heavy and the situation on the continent every bit as desperate as when Lloyd George was the chief tenant at No. 10 Downing street.

Losses in Prestige.

A ministry, according to British parliamentary practice, loses much of its prestige on the occasion of an adverse verdict at a by-election and in many cases defeats of ministers have led to the resignation of the government.

Political observers are of the opinion that Bonar Law must strengthen his position.

GERMANY REFUSES ANY DISCUSSIONS OF REPARATIONS

Allied Commission Is Told Conferences Are

INTEREST CENTERING
IN REICHSTAG TODAY

Report Says That Chancellor Cuno May Announce Severance of Diplomatic Relations.

BY FERDINAND JAHN.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, March 5.—Fresh defiance of the allies by the German government, closely following wide-spread reports that Chancellor Cuno was ready to sever diplomatic relations with France and Belgium, increases the danger of the European situation.

The Berlin government Monday flatly refused the invitation of the allied reparations commission to discuss the German default on nitrogen deliveries to the allies. In a communication to the commission, Baron von Rosenberg, foreign minister, stated that it was impossible for the government to enter into any negotiations concerning reparations as long as French and Belgian troops remained in the Ruhr.

Thus the government again defied France and Belgium, knowing full well that additional reprisals, possibly further occupation of the Reich's territory, may be the penalty exacted.

Reports that Germany was about to sever diplomatic relations with Brussels and Paris, and that Chancellor Cuno was to make the announcement during the course of a speech in the reichstag Tuesday, caused a furor in diplomatic circles. Although the government issued a formal denial, the report persisted.

"State of War."

In event Germany should recall her ambassadors, many believe France would be furnished with a pretext of declaring a state of war against Germany thus giving her a chance completely to crush the Teutonic nation.

In some quarters it was forecast that Cuno's speech Tuesday in the reichstag would be in the form of a "flaming protest" against the occupation of Manheim and other German cities which have been taken over by the French invaders recently.

That news from the Ruhr is not so favorable as the German industrialists would have the world believe was indicated Monday by the appearance of Hugo Stinnes, the wealthiest man in Germany, before the national industrial association. The United News has learned that the association is increasingly worried over confidential reports from the Ruhr indicating that the workmen are deserting the Berlin government and going over to the "enemy."

Meeting This Morning.

Judge McClelland has called a meeting of his membership committee for 9 o'clock this morning at the Elks' home. Final reports on the success of the drive will be made at the regular weekly luncheon of the committee Wednesday noon at the Elks' home.

Appeal for Payne Causes Suspension Of Masonic Lodge

Order Is Issued Monday Morning by Joe Bowdoin, Grand Master of Masons in Georgia.

ELKS' MEMBERSHIP DRIVE LAUNCHED;
GOAL SET AT 2,000

Public-Spirited Workers Enter Drive Confident of Success—To Canvass
Until Dark.

Today is Elks' membership day. From early in the morning until offices close for the night, teams of lodge members will canvass the city in an effort to secure applications for membership in Atlanta lodge No. 78, from every person who is qualified for membership in the order.

Two thousand applications is the goal. This is a large assignment for the day, but officials in charge of the assault declare confidence of final success.

Two distinct lines of work are being followed in the round-up. First, the membership committee of twenty-five is devoting the day to an exhaustive canvass of its entire prospect list. And then, each individual Elk is trying to secure one application.

Ask All Atlanta's Help.

"We are appealing to the public spirited men of Atlanta to enter the order at this time to aid us in one of the greatest civic responsibilities ever assumed by a local body," stated Exalted Ruler Judge L. F. McClelland Monday night.

"Atlanta lodge, No. 78, has ventured to invite the annual convention of the grand lodge of the order to Atlanta in July. This will bring to the city 75,000 visitors who must be entertained in traditional Atlanta style."

"We have secured the convention solely because of the benefits which will accrue to our city. It will mean months and months of the greatest effort on the part of the lodge without any very direct returns to us."

"It will mean much to Atlanta, as big conventions have always done in the past. We want every patriotic Atlantian to help us in the job we have undertaken. Our present membership is too small to handle all the details which are involved. For this reason, we are staging our big campaign Tuesday, and from the results that have already come to us, we are hopeful that we shall be able to reach our goal."

Meeting This Morning.

Judge McClelland has called a meeting of his membership committee for 9 o'clock this morning at the Elks' home. Final reports on the success of the drive will be made at the regular weekly luncheon of the committee Wednesday noon at the Elks' home.

CITIES ARE WARNED AGAINST BAD WATER

No Water Pure, Says Health Board—Gives Methods of Purification.

Urging that special efforts be made by cities and individuals to obtain a good water supply and stating that the chief requirements of a public or private supply are wholesomeness, cleanliness and freedom from excessive amounts of minerals, the state board of health has released the following statement:

"The three most important needs of man are air, food and water and in each case purity is necessary. Pure water is a luxury as well as a necessity. A good supply of it is a valuable municipal asset, not only enhancing civic pride, but attracting to the community manufacturers who use water in their industries and who desire ample fire protection for their property."

"The history of sanitary engineering tells a tale of the misery and death resulting from drinking water infected with the germs of such diseases as typhoid fever and dysentery. The term 'pure water' is not a satisfactory one. In the first place, pure water does not exist in nature. Because of its great dissolving power, foreign substances are always present."

"The first characteristic of a water fit to be used for drinking is that it be free from infection. The germs of typhoid, cholera and various other diseases are water borne. Impure water may not always cause sickness, but it is always dangerous."

"Private wells need protection against pollution. The greatest danger is from entrance of foul water at or near the top of the well. This can be guarded against by causing the ground to slope away from the well curb, by providing a water-tight cover and by making the sides of the well water tight for a few feet down from the top, but the surest and safest method of safeguarding the quality of a public water supply is by artificial purification. Our American water supplies are so varied in character that a number of different processes have been perfected and it is safe to say today that almost any water can be purified and made safe and wholesome."

WOMAN POINTS WAY TO WINNING RICHES

con. Her mother is now Mrs. Emma Dolvin, of "Dolvin's Art Flowers," of 481 Peachtree street. She is now a resident of Plainfield, N. J.

Mrs. Cleaver has written several books of the kind which tell how success may be achieved. Her latest is entitled, "You Can Make Money After Reading This Book." It is a fascinating little pamphlet, and is chock full of illustrative incidents, telling of people who have been made rich by Mrs. Cleaver's suggestions.

Suggests Dog Washery.
For instance, there is the man who sat on a New York park bench, down and out, a bum. Along came Mrs. Cleaver, talked over the situation with him and suggested that lots of the parading ladies were leading pet dogs. She further suggested that all dogs needed washing every so often. There you are. The erstwhile bum is now the proprietor of the most exclusive and prosperous dog washery on Fifth avenue.

There was another case of a poor young widow who couldn't do anything except make babies' nightgowns. Under Mrs. Cleaver's suggestions she learned how to advertise and market the night gowns and now she is running a factory that turns 'em out for all the babies in her state—whose mothers can afford to pay her properly exclusive prices she charges.

The book is full of instances like these. One hundred and twenty-seven of them, in fact.

Uses Cote System.
Mrs. Cleaver is also a firm believer in a form of the Cote idea. She advocates the daily repetition, ten times, of "Day by day, in every way, I know I am getting better and better—I will not say anything, or think anything about myself that I do not wish to make true—as thoughts and words materialize."

Her creed, after all, is simple. She argues that anyone, with a reasonable idea, can take the one thing they do better than anything else, add the proper ingredients of imagination, determination and hard work, and produce the tasty pudding of success.

And, after all, what's new? Anyway, if Mrs. Cleaver wants an Atlanta subject to practice on, one who needs money badly, who could expend it artistically and scientifically and who is going to read her book to the back cover before morning, she can find his name at the head of this little story.

Fair and Moderate Weather Predicted For Atlanta Today

Local rains, predicted for Georgia by the weather forecast Monday morning showed up in the form of light showers in Atlanta shortly before night. A slight drop in temperature, also predicted, made its appearance.

Tuesday will most likely be fair, very mild, the prediction of the weather man, and rains are predicted for south Georgia. For three days spring weather has prevailed in Atlanta, with temperatures averaging close to 70 degrees.

Sunday was only about 2 degrees cooler than Saturday, and Monday was about the same as Saturday. A temperature of 74 degrees was reached Saturday, and Sunday night it dropped to 54. A minimum only a few degrees below this was predicted for the early hours of Tuesday morning.

METROPOLITAN MEN HEAR PRESIDENT TALK

All Records Broken Last Year Fiske Declares at Dinner.

About 150 representatives of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company operating in the Atlanta and Piedmont districts and 100 of Atlanta's commercial, industrial and financial leaders gathered Monday night at the Capital City club at a dinner given by Lyle Fiske, of New York city, president of the company, as the concluding feature of the president's triennial convention. The dinner was arranged by George N. Phillips, manager of the Piedmont district.

For the past several years President Fiske has toured the United States and Canada to meet his representatives in conferences regarding the enormous business written by the Metropolitan company. He is accompanied here this time by Vice President F. O. Ayres, Lee K. Frankel and R. L. Cox and other officials.

Goes to Birmingham.
The party will leave Atlanta tomorrow Tuesday for Birmingham, where a similar convention will be held for that territory. Later Mr. Fiske's party will go to Memphis and New Orleans.

Mr. Fiske and his associates addressed the Metropolitan representatives of the Piedmont and Atlanta districts Monday at the chamber of commerce, outlining the company's program for future activities. All previous records for business transacted were broken in 1922, according to President Fiske. The total amount of industrial insurance placed during the year was over $775,000,000, he said. Income of the company increased over the income of the previous year by over $38,500,000, reaching a total of $340,008,301, he asserted.

Controls Disease.
Assets of the company at the end of the year, it was shown, were approximately $1,260,000,000.

The company has distributed 272,000,000 pamphlets giving hints on hygiene and prevention and treatment of disease to its policy holders, according to the annual report of the company, issued yesterday.

Metropolitan nurses made more than 2,000,000 free visits to sick industrial policy holders, bringing the total number made since this service was inaugurated to over 16,000,000, the report stated.

Several local nurses of the company, costumed in their uniforms, were guests at the dinner Monday night. Health improvement activities of the company were shown in an interesting film exhibited to the assemblage.

Every sixth person in the United States and Canada is a policy-holder in the Metropolitan, it was asserted by President Fiske in his address. A death occurs in the ranks of the company's policy-holders every four and one-third minutes, he stated. Pausing in his remarks to consult his watch, he called attention to the fact that since the beginning of the banquet 35 policy holders had been called by death.

killed by French soldiers and several wounded during a day of widespread disorders in the Ruhr and Rhineland. The casualty list Monday was greater than at any time since the French occupied the rich German industrial area over seven weeks ago.

A civilian who attempted to flee when the French took over a railroad station in Essen was shot to death by a police. Three persons, a man and two small boys, were seriously injured when an armored motor car charged through a crowd during the same operation.

For refusal to obey the command, "Halt!" A civilian was killed by a French sentry at Bochum.

French guards at Westphalia discovered a party of Germans in the attempt to commit deeds of sabotage against railroad properties. The police fired into the crowd, killing one and wounding two.

An irate German attacked a French corporal at Horde. The corporal beat off the assailant, killing him.

Agreement Is Reached.
London, March 5.—A dispatch to The Times from Cologne, says General Sir Arthur Coady, commander of the British forces at Cologne, and General deGoutte, the French commander in the occupied regions, have arrived at a satisfactory agreement on the question of the transportation of French troops through the British zone.

Hold Allies Responsible.
Dusseldorf, March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Germans hold the Ruhr allies indirectly responsible for the disorders in Essen early yesterday when several hundred patrons of a large cabaret were robbed of their cash by fifteen or twenty armed men. Armed mobs, said to be unemployed, caused disturbances in various parts of the city by looting food stores.

The expulsion of the security police, the Germans say, has left the city practically without protection and the marauders took advantage of this situation. The municipal police force, which is to replace the security police, is not yet completely organized.

Sunday morning's disorders brought home to the allies the fact that unemployment in parts of the Ruhr is increasing, especially in view of the vacations given to the mine workers. Meanwhile the production of coal, it is expected, will be reduced to between 15 and 20 per cent of the pre-occupation output.

Golden Rose Will Be Sent by Pope To Spanish Queen

Vatican Plans to Revive Custom Now in Disuse for More Than 20 Years

Rome, March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Pope Pius in May will revive one of the oldest customs of the vatican which fell into disuse more than 20 years ago, when he sends the Golden Rose to the queen of Spain.

The Golden Rose, made up of a cluster of roses and buds on one stem, all of solid gold in time gone by, was given each year by the pope to the queen, who during the year had performed the most pious deeds for the church.

Neither Pius X, nor Benedict XV, sent the Golden Rose to any queen. The last time it was bestowed was by Leo XIII, who conferred it upon Queen Amelie, of Portugal. Previously he had given it to the queen of Spain, Maria Christina.

Count Soderini was the last personage of the papal court appointed as the bearer of the Golden Rose, but he resigned this post when he was elected a member of the Italian parliament. Recently he was appointed a senator by Premier Mussolini. It is expected Pope Pius will entrust the Marquis Sarcinetti, his equerry, with the honor of taking the Rose to the queen of Spain. According to tradition, the pontiff will bless the rose next Sunday, the fourth Sunday in Lent.

The library of the late Dr. Morris Justrow, professor of Hebrew at the University of Pennsylvania, has been presented to the American School of Oriental Research at Palestine. This collection is believed to be one of the most complete in this country.

ANDERSON IS UPHELD BY NEW YORK PASTORS

Anti-Saloon League Official Denies Attacking District Attorney.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 5.—William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, whose financial affairs are under investigation by a New York grand jury, was given a vote of confidence by Central New York ministers here today.

Mr. Anderson, who addressed the gathering, denied having accused the district attorney of New York of having "any part in a conspiracy to ruin me," and asserted he had explicitly disclaimed intention to make any such charges in anything he had said. He announced his purpose "to continue to expose the conspiracy that exists, and the relation of Raymond B. Fowdick, Rockefeller representative, to it, regardless of the efforts to silence me by statements about other matters."

Mr. Anderson said his respect for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his appreciation of what he has done for the Anti-Saloon league, "in no sense obligates me to submit in silence to the secretly manifested hostility of his employee, who had evidently deceived him in some particulars."

"Mr. Fowdick's personal animus against me," he continued, "evidently has led him to do things for the press that they would not have done for themselves and which are despicable almost beyond belief. I shall prove by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., himself, the class of opinion which supplies a basis for such animus."

The meeting was attended by 300 clergymen.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS IN THE SOUTH BRIGHT

Knoxville Merchant Says High Cotton Prices Have Stimulated Industry.

Prospects for business in the south were never brighter, in the opinion of J. G. Sterchi, of Knoxville, Tenn., president of the Sterchi Furniture company, which operates a chain of 18 stores, including one local store on East Mitchell street. Prevailing good prices for cotton has given southern business a considerable boost, he said.

Mr. Sterchi was in Atlanta Monday en route to Knoxville after having spent six weeks in Florida and Cuba. He will remain in Atlanta until Tuesday night.

Opening of a new furniture store in Jacksonville, to be a branch of the Atlanta store, was announced by Mr. Sterchi. He also announced that as a result of his trip to Cuba, on which he combined business with pleasure, salesmen of the wholesale department of the Sterchi company will shortly begin to travel throughout the island.

"I found merchants in Havana to be very optimistic over business prospects, and they seemed very much pleased with the prices quoted them for wholesale orders in the south. A great deal of Atlanta merchandise is being sold down there. Metal beds are being shipped there in large quantities from Atlanta."

The Sterchi company operates its own factory at Knoxville, and owns extensive timber lands in eastern Tennessee.

Chattanooga is the home of three Sterchi stores, and Knoxville and Bristol, Tenn., have two each. Other cities having a Sterchi store are Atlanta, Jacksonville, Asheville, Nashville, Middleboro, Ky., Corbin, Ky., Pineville, Ky., Abingdon, Va., Johnson City, Tenn., Lenoir, Tenn., and El Paso, Texas.

The Sterchi company was organized about 50 years ago. Mr. Sterchi makes his home at Knoxville, where he operates a dairy farm, stocked with 200 fine Jersey cattle and 60 Shetland ponies.

FUNERAL AT LITHONIA FOR ALONZO M. BRAND

Solicitor of Stone Mountain Circuit Dies In Atlanta
Monday.

Alonzo M. Brand, 46, of Lithonia, solicitor general of the Stone Mountain circuit, former mayor of Lithonia, and one of the most prominent lawyers in the state, died Monday morning at a local hospital. Funeral services will be held today at Lithonia, Dr. J. T. Young, pastor of the Presbyterian church; Dr. T. C. Burch, pastor of the Baptist church, and Dr. W. N. Tawes, will officiate.

The deceased had a large number of friends in Atlanta where for the last few years he has maintained law offices. He was the son of the late J. E. Brand, of Lithonia, who was also widely known throughout the state.

He was past worshipful master of the Lithonia Masonic lodge and a member of the Yarnab Temple of the Shrine.

Mr. Brand is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maude Brand; his daughter, Miss Catherine Brand; his mother, Mrs. J. E. Brand, and two sisters, Mrs. C. H. McDonald and Mrs. E. J. Newmyer, all of Lithonia. Congressman C. H. Brand, of Athens, and E. M. Brand, of Lawrenceville, are cousins.

MASONS TO GIVE PRIZE FOR BEST NAME FOR HOME

The Atlanta Masonic club has offered a reward of $100 to the Georgia school boy or girl below college seniors submitting the most suitable name to be given the Georgia Children's Home society, it was announced Monday. The children's society is sponsored by the Masonic club and feeling that the present name does not classify the organization in its true significance, officials stated, they will endeavor to secure a more fitting name.

In announcing the prize offer George P. Eubanks, president of the Atlanta Masonic club, stated that he was not prepared to say just what the name should be but that the school boy or girl offering the most suitable new name and 100 words, or less, of clear-cut reason why the name should be accepted, would be awarded $100.

Robert C. McCord, state superintendent of the society, stated that he would like to meet and talk over the matter with any boys and girls who wished to try for the prize.

DEFENSE IS MADE OF STANDARD OIL

Congressional Investigation Declared Unfair to and Prejudiced Against Company by Bedford.

New York, March 5.—A. C. Bedford, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, issued a statement tonight charging the senate sub-committee's report on the American oil industry, made public yesterday, was intended to discredit his company.

He characterized the investigation as unfair to and prejudiced against his company and the sub-committee's conclusions as "grossly unjust and misleading, such as no competent tribunal nor fair-minded individual would draw from the evidence."

Monopolization of the oil industry in the United States is an impossibility, he declared. He denied that there was any common understanding or price-fixing agreement between the former constituents of the old Standard Oil group. The price of gasoline, he said, depended upon the laws of supply and demand and on the prices received for petroleum products.

Fuel oil at present, he declared, was being sold at a loss, and the deficit had to be made up from gasoline sales. No considerable price advance in gasoline or other petroleum products was in sight, he said.

"Of 85,000 barrels of gasoline now being produced every day in the mid-continent territory, 60,000 barrels are being thrown into markets that offer the best returns. Today the movement may be into one state, tomorrow into another. The combined production of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey is 32,000 barrels daily. It is a fact too patent to elaborate that the refinery on the Atlantic seaboard or elsewhere could hold up an arbitrary price for gasoline or other petroleum products when any other refinery can draw on this big surplus in the mid-continent area at prices lower than those asked by the eastern refiner."

METHODIST PASTORS JOIN WAR ON DIVORCE

City-Wide Methodist Revival in April Planned at Meeting Monday.

Support was pledged by the Atlanta Methodist ministers to pastors of other denominations in the recently launched anti-divorce crusade in which the ministers have agreed not to marry anyone having been divorced on grounds other than those of infidelity. It was announced Monday following a meeting of the Methodist pastors of the city.

The ministers also endorsed a bill, prepared by the Evangelical Ministers' association, to be introduced into the legislature petitioning for a law prohibiting persons who had been divorced for reasons other than those given in the Scripture.

The third simultaneous city-wide revival entered into by all evangelized denominations in Atlanta, will begin Easter, April 1, and continue for two weeks. It was agreed Monday at a meeting of the Evangelical Ministers' association. More than 100 churches will enter into the revival, which will bring to the city many distinguished ministers.

Two mass meetings will be held during the revival, bringing together all churches engaged. One of these will be held Monday morning, April 9, at the Baptist Tabernacle, the second at the Wesley Memorial church the following Monday.

Committees were appointed Monday to handle the combined interests and to decide upon the expenditures on advertising the revival.

Congress Halls Given 9 Months "Quiet" Period

Long Rest From Siege of Oratory Promised People of This Country.

Washington, March 5.—A negro janitor with mop and bucket was the solitary occupant of the house galvanized by a page boys organized a mock legislative body to pass numerous bills and resolutions which failed in the closing days of the 67th congress.

After that ceremony the doors of the house and senate chambers were closed, to remain so until December, unless President Harding should call Congress into extraordinary session.

The principal action today consisted of efforts of retiring members to clear their offices and get home as quickly as possible. Great piles of junk littered the corridors, keeping the cleanup squad on the jump. Copies of bills and reports, no longer wanted, were taken away by the cartful.

There also was a scurrying for more desirable office space by members who will be in the next congress. Under existing custom newcomers must take what is left after the "veterans" choose the most desirable rooms.

New Members Appear. A number of the new house members appeared at the office of sergeant-at-arms and went through the process of identification to draw compensation, which began March 4. They also arranged to get office space so they can carry on the work of their predecessors. In many instances clerks and secretaries of the retiring legislators were made available to them temporarily.

Among those departing, so far as their services in congress are concerned, were Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, who led the republican majority in the house; Joseph W. Forney, of Michigan, chairman of the house ways and means committee, where all revenue legislation is introduced; and Philip P. Campbell, of Kansas, chairman of the house rules committee.

Mr. Mondell will remain in Washington to take up his duties as director of the War Finance corporation. Mr. Campbell probably will return to the practice of law, with an office here, while Mr. Forney will go back to his farm near Saginaw, Mich.

Food for Speculation. Retirement of these three leaders, along with a hundred or more others, already has begun to furnish food for speculation as to the organization of the republican majority in the next house. In recent years no long vacations between congresses have been had, and both major parties have been able to quickly settle their fight for leadership. But with nine months of congressional inactivity in sight, opportunity for maneuvering will be multiplied.

Under the house customs of seniority, vacant committee chairmanships will go to the ranking majority member but with the influx of new democratic representation and the consequent increase the party will get in committee strength, minority leaders face the difficulty of satisfying the ambitions of many who will want important assignments.

There has been little talk of a fight for leadership of the democratic minority. Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking member of the ways and means committee, has announced that for the sake of harmony, he would not oppose the present leader, Representative Garrett, of Tennessee. No opposition has so far developed against Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, the democratic whip.

Two Men in Field. On the republican side, however, two candidates already are in the field for the leadership—Representatives Longworth, Ohio, and Graham, Illinois, and a contest also is in prospect for the position of whip, which Representative Knutson, Minnesota, has declined for another year. Friends of both Mr. Graham and Mr. Longworth were active during the closing days of the present congress.

Conferences of the two parties will be held shortly before the next congressional meets, but in the case of the republicans, there is now no conference chairman. Representative Townner, of Iowa, having retired to become governor of Porto Rico.

Democrats will be faced with the task of reassigning returning members who went down in the Harding landslide and came back last November. Some of them had reached high places on committees.

CHARTER OF LEBANON LODGE IS ARRESTED

and peaceful citizen, true to his government and just to his country; that he is not to countenance disloyalty or rebellion, but patiently submit to legal authority and conform with cheerfulness to the government of the country in which he lives."

Dunlap is Silent. Arthur J. Dunlap, secretary of Lebanon lodge, was asked for a statement regarding the action of the "charter lodge in arresting the charter of Lebanon lodge."

"I have no statement whatever to make," said Mr. Dunlap.

"Can you refer us to another officer of the lodge who might make a statement?"

"No."

"You don't think any officer of the lodge would make a statement?"

"I know they wouldn't."

The move by Lebanon lodge to secure a pardon for Payne developed last week and was said at that time to have been the first instance of its kind on record.

The lodge's decision to attempt to secure a pardon for Payne followed a trial staged by the lodge in the case on February 12, according to announcement made last week by Secretary Dunlap in disclosing the fact that the lodge planned to appear before the commission Monday.

Acquitted by Lodge. Payne was acquitted by the lodge by a practically unanimous vote. Secretary Dunlap had stated at that time, and those members who voted to sustain the conviction did so through a mistaken idea concerning the manner of balloting.

Payne was convicted on a charge of bribery brought against him following the 1921 "chambers probe" and Nat McWhorter, negro bootlegger, was principal witness against him. In trying the case on February 12, it is said, the lodge decided that Payne was convicted upon the ample testimony of this notorious negro character.

Funeral of Mrs. Ivester. Norcross, Ga., March 5.—(Special) Funeral services for Mrs. A. N. Ivester, who died in Gwinnett last week, were held Sunday afternoon at the Norcross Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. Mark Williams. She was born in Charleston, S. C., but was brought to north Georgia by her parents and resided in Gwinnett county for the past 40 years. Surviving Mrs. Ivester are her husband, two daughters and three sons.

M'NARY REFUSES TO ACCEPT OFFER

Inform President Harding That He Could Not Accept Recess Appointment to Currency Place.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, March 5.—James G. McNary, of New Mexico, whose nomination for controller of the currency failed of confirmation by the senate, was offered a recess appointment to the place today by President Harding, but replied that he could not accept.

Regret over Mr. McNary's refusal to take a recess appointment was expressed by white house officials who said that for a long time the president had sought a southern man for controller and that the selection finally had been made without any solicitation on the part of Mr. McNary.

Announcements of the latest steps taken in the row over the controllership were made after a conference between the president, Mr. McNary and Mr. Crissinger. The following letter from Mr. McNary later was made public at the white house:

"I beg to express my great appreciation of the high honor you have again conferred upon me by reappointing me with a recess appointment to the office of controller of the currency."

Feels Grateful. "I am most grateful to you for your continued confidence and friendship and for your unflinching support during the contest to present my confirmation."

"No one knows as well as you that I did not seek the office. To take this office today means not only severing all present banking connections, but debars me from renewing them for two years after leaving the office. Also, the acceptance of the office means a very considerable financial sacrifice to me as well as the sacrifice of the comfort and happiness of my family."

"After careful consideration, I have been unable to convince myself that I should take up the responsibility of the office without the full authority which goes with a confirmation which was prevented by unfair tactics which a large majority of the senate stood ready to give, and without which no man in is in position to render his best service."

"I beg, therefore, that you will permit me to decline the recess appointment."

SLIGHT NOISE WOULD DRIVE HER "MAD"

Woman Credits Paw Paw Tonic With Helping Her Back to Health From Highly Nervous Condition.

"After using one bottle of PAW PAW TONIC I can say without exaggeration that I have added years to my life," writes Mrs. A. E. Williams, 332 S. Blakely Street, Dunmore, Pa.

"I was in a highly nervous condition due to an attack of Grip. I could scarcely do my household work. The least noise grated on my nerves and would drive me almost mad."

"Thanks to PAW PAW TONIC I am once more back to my old self and I enjoy my work, sleep and rest like a babe. I ask all sufferers to employ PAW PAW TONIC if they wish to enjoy life."

Is not such sincere gratefulness convincing evidence that Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic will do what is claimed for it? Proof, however, talks louder than claims. You can prove to yourself that it can bring the happiness of health to you.

Buy a 5¢ bottle of Paw Paw Tonic. Yours will be an odd case indeed whether you suffer from stomach trouble, nervousness, insomnia, heartburn, indigestion or weakness, if it does not quickly relieve you.

Crissinger to Serve. Afterward it was announced that S. D. R. Crissinger, the present controller, would continue in that office for the present despite the fact that he had been nominated and confirmed as governor of the federal reserve board.

It was made known that Mr. Harding had decided not to withhold longer the commission of Milo D. Campbell, of Michigan, as the "dirt farmer" member of the reserve board. Although confirmed several weeks ago, the president had refrained from signing his commission pending a senate decision on the McNary nomination.

Tolbert Named. A recess appointment as United States marshal for the western district of South Carolina was given by President Harding today by Joseph W. Tolbert, a republican leader in that state whose nomination failed of confirmation after one of the bitterest patronage fights of the Harding administration.

Recess Appointments. President Harding today gave recess appointments to Elmer S. Landes, of Ohio, republican, and Merton L. Corey, of Nebraska, democrat, as directors of the federal farm loan board.

Robbins Confirmed. Examinations of senate records today revealed that the nomination of Grover C. Robbins to be postmaster at Bowling Rock, N. C., was confirmed in the eleventh hour rush. Earlier records indicated that the nomination had failed of confirmation.

Coates May Be Named. Washington, March 5.—Herbert D. Coates, of New York, a former state senator, is being considered by President Harding for attorney-general of Porto Rico. He probably will receive a recess appointment to prevail until the new congress assembles.

Appointments Confirmed. Washington, March 5.—(Special.) The Congressional Record of today carries a list of seven Georgia post-office nominations which were confirmed by the senate just prior to final adjournment. Due to the confirmations having been effected at irregular intervals of the last session, it was necessary for them to be assimilated before announcement.

They are as follows: Albert S. Hardy, to be postmaster at Gainesville; Emma D. Lindley, Powder Springs; Ralph A. Waters, Alpharetta; Cicero F. Duffee, Jonesboro; Hiram R. Hancock, Maysville; George H. Ray, Norwood, and Will C. Woodall, at Woodland.

There were a number of nominations for state postoffices that went over for failure of the senate to act, but due to the prospective long congressional vacation it is thought the republican organization of the state, headed by J. L. Phillips, will request the president to make recess appointments.

Washington Woman First to Accompany Prohibition Raiders

Waycross, Ga., March 5.—(Special.) The first woman ever to go on a moonshine raid in Ware county is Mrs. Martin, of Washington, D. C., who, with her husband, yesterday accompanied officers through the thickets of White Oak creek in the southeastern part of Ware county to a still operated in the midst of a swamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin were spending the day in the city and expressed a desire to see just how a raid was conducted. The still was of a 40-gallon capacity. John Thomas, alleged operator of the still, was arrested.

Government Hospital Kitchen Is Destroyed By Blaze From Oven

Augusta, Ga., March 5.—(Special.) Fire originating beneath cook ovens in one of the kitchens at the government hospitals here this morning caused damage to the building estimated at $1,000. The building is of stucco construction and was regarded as fireproof. It was one of a large number of new buildings recently erected at the Leuwood hospital. The building was practically gutted by the flames.

Survivor of Riot At Herrin Tells Story of Tragedy

Charges Defendant With Murder of Assistant Mine Superintendent.

Marion, Ill., March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—William Cairns, one of the survivors of the Herrin riots, from the witness stand pointed out three of the six defendants on trial as having taken part in the tragedy or been present with guns in their hands.

While lying beneath an overturned barbed-wire fence with seventeen buckshot in his back and a bullet in his side, the witness testified that he had seen Phillip Fontannetta, the youngest of the defendants, walk up to John Shoemaker, assistant superintendent of the mine where the trouble started, who was lying nearby, badly wounded, but still breathing.

"Here's that . . . ex-machine gunner" Cairns quoted Fontannetta as saying, and continued: "Then he placed a gun beside Shoemaker's head and blew the side of his face off."

Auto Drives Up. Just before the shooting began, the witness said, an automobile drove up to the crowd that was escorting some fifty unarmed prisoners taken from the mine and he heard some one shout: "Here comes Willis."

Hugh Willis, state board member of the Illinois mine workers, is one of the men on trial charged with the slaying of Antonio Mulkovitch, one of the twenty-two non-union workers killed during the riots. Cairns said that he could not identify any one in the automobile.

The witness testified that the workers and armed guards in the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company had been attacked June 21. Cairns declared the defenders raised a white flag about 5 o'clock that afternoon but that the firing continued during the night. He said the fire was returned from the rioters but that the next morning about 50 men remaining in the mine, a score having fled during the night, laid down their arms and surrendered. The witness said he saw C. K. McDowell led away by two men, one of whom was Otis Clark.

Accuses Defendant. The witness then pointed out one of the defendants, James Brown, as the man who had made the statement, "we're going to fix 'em." Clark, who was acquitted at the first trial, also is a defendant in the present case.

Cairns asserted that the prisoners were then lined up before a barbed wire fence and the shooting began. He said he tried to crawl through the fence, but pulled it over and lay face downward while the crowd chased the fleeing prisoners.

"While I was lying there," he said, "I saw a wounded man leaning against a tree with his blood-streaked face on his arm. A couple of men with guns came up and said to him: 'You big . . . can't we kill you?' and fired into his body."

Cairns testified that he recognized the speaker as Peter Hiller, one of the five defendants acquitted at the first trial. Hiller is not a defendant in the present trial.

On cross examination Cairns testified that he came from Chicago to act as a guard at the mine on June 16; that he was given a high-powered rifle and a heavy pistol and that there had been no trouble until the afternoon of June 21. He asserted he had never done strike duty before and that it was the first time he ever had a rifle in his hands.

LaGrange, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—At the annual election of the LaGrange lodge, No. 1084, B. P. O. E., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: H. P. Park, exalted ruler; J. C. Sullivan, esteemed leading knight; Robert Teat, esteemed loyal knight; M. U. Mooty, esteemed lecturing knight; Sierra Yonne, secretary; Frank Hutchinson, treasurer; S. A. Reid, tiler; H. D. Burks and Roder Dallis, trustees. Howard P. Park was chosen as delegate to the grand lodge convention which is to be held in Atlanta this year.

Don't use the whip on tired nerves—it means trouble

When the day's work is hard, you can't make it easier with stimulants.

Ask any doctor for the facts. You can't over-draw energy without paying.

Coffee contains the nerve-stimulating drug, caffeine. When coffee is used to overcome fatigue, it means whipping the tired nerves into a run.

You may seem to get added strength—but there's a settlement coming for an over-drawn account.

Take care! Rest is the cure for fatigue. Health is the equipment for hard tasks.

Rest and health are interfered with when nerves are over-stimulated.

You've seen plenty of proof. How many people do you know who say, "I have to go slow on coffee; it keeps me awake nights?"

How is it in your own case? Have you counted restless night hours after the evening cup of coffee?

Treat your health sensibly that you may meet your task capably.

Don't try to draw strength from over-driven nerves. That way lies weakness. Don't increase over-work by using stimulants. You are merely postponing and increasing the penalties.

Be fair to yourself! For a hot, comforting beverage, drink Postum and let nerves have their natural rest.

There's charm without harm in Postum—a delightful, satisfying cereal beverage; rich, seal-brown in color, delicious in flavor and aroma, and containing nothing that can irritate nerves or disturb health. Postum is safe and enjoyable for every member of the family.

Thousands who formerly used coffee or tea, and began to pay the penalties of nerve-stimulation, now use Postum and praise its comforting goodness.

The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

NEW BOLL WEEVIL FIGHT IS OUTLINED

Dr. Hutchison Says Cotton Association Withdrew Because it Could Not Dominate Campaign

New York, March 5.—The national campaign for boll weevil control is in no way connected with or directed by the American Cotton association, and the latter organization has no power to change its personnel, Dr. Miller Reese Hutchison, director, declared today in answer to a report that the A. C. A. had revoked his appointment.

"The national campaign," Dr. Hutchison said, "was launched by me at the Atlanta convention. It has the whole-hearted support of federal and state agricultural experiment and extension forces and of all associations connected with the cotton industry, except the A. C. A., which withdrew from the campaign project after learning that it could not dominate the campaign and control its funds."

Formal Severance.

"This withdrawal of the A. C. A. formally and automatically severed all relations between the A. C. A. and myself, inasmuch as I had been unanimously elected president and managing director of the national campaign."

"Furthermore, I am in receipt of many communications congratulating the campaign upon being non-partisan, non-political and thoroughly national in accordance with the unanimously expressed wishes of the Atlanta campaign."

Organization of the national camaign has just been completed, Dr. Hutchison said, with the following officers and directors:

Frank S. Briggs, Memphis, treasurer; John D. Martin, Memphis, general counsel; A. B. Meserlin, New York, secretary; and George M. Shutt, New York; C. P. J. Mooney, Memphis; S. J. Cassell, Montgomery, Ala.; W. W. Long, Clemson, S. C.; W. P. Conger, Greenville, S. C.; F. J. Merriam, Atlanta; Frank Gilliland, H. S. Ramsey and Dabney Crump, all of Memphis, directors. Thirty-three additional directors are yet to be selected from the 15 cotton states. One man in each state will be named chairman of a state committee consisting of heads of agricultural experiment and extension forces, a banker and planter. Each state committee will have not more than ten members.

Mooney's Explanation.

Memphis, Tenn., March 5.—C. P. J. Mooney, editor of The Memphis Commercial Appeal, who acted as chairman of the meeting held here Saturday to perfect organization of the National Campaign for Boll Weevil Control, issued a statement tonight explaining that the formation of the corporation grew out of the unanimous action of the cotton conference recently held in Atlanta and pointed out that the new organization had nothing to do with the activities of the American Cotton association.

"The corporation entitled the National Campaign for Boll Weevil Control grew out of the unanimous action of the cotton conference held in Atlanta," Mr. Mooney said in his statement. "At that conference it was resolved that this association should be formed as an eleemosynary association. It was the unanimous understanding that Dr. Miller Reese Hutchison should be placed in active control of the work. The names of the incorporators were given out."

"The corporation has nothing whatever to do with the activities of the American Cotton association, of which Dr. S. W. Wainwright is the head. At the Memphis meeting Saturday the resolutions adopted at Atlanta were spread upon the minutes as confirmation of authority for going forward. It is the purpose of the association to unify all possible effort for the destruction of the boll weevil."

"Cause of the Break."

St. Matthews, S. C., March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American Cotton association broke with Dr. Miller Reese Hutchison, head of the national campaign for boll weevil control, because it does not believe in any organization in which the head has absolute power, J. Skottowe Wainwright, president of the organization, declared in a statement to the Associated Press here today. He asserted that the "inside" of the situation had not yet been disclosed to the public.

The campaign of the American Cotton association for control of the boll weevil will be continued with increased scope, he asserted. Experiments will be conducted at 2,000 demonstration farms, he said, with the cooperation of the best experts in the country.

Dr. Hutchison's appointment as director of scientific research for the American Cotton association, revocation of which was announced in a statement yesterday by Harvie Jordan, secretary of the association, was revoked "after careful investigation had convinced me that a monumental mistake had been made in selecting him for the position," said Mr. Wainwright, "and a belief that it was not too late to remedy the mistake."

Wainwright's Reason.

Saying that the "inside" of the situation had not yet been disclosed to the public, Mr. Wainwright declared that the American Cotton association was opposed to any proposal by which any particular individual or interest would be enriched by "commercializing, monopolizing or exploiting any successful boll weevil remedy—or any other human necessity."

"We are also opposed," he continued, "to any organization in which the head has absolute power. Dr.

Hutchison's 'expert' staff is composed of his attorney and private secretary, and he has not so much as a finance committee."

Plans for the association to ask congress to offer a reward of $1,000,000 for the discovery of a successful method of controlling the boll weevil and to honor the discoverer with a title of "benefactor of humanity and patron of agriculture," were declared by Mr. Wainwright to give promise of becoming an accomplished fact in the next congress.

Broadway Sees "Spider" Plunge To Instant Death

Wife in Crowd When Harry F. Young Falls From Tenth Floor.

New York, March 5.—With a Broadway crowd standing, agape and movie machines clicking out their yards of celluloid ribbon, Harry F. Young, self-styled "Spider," plunged ten stories to his death today while attempting to scale the side of Hotel Martinique.

Women fainted and disorder ensued. Police reserves had to be called before the body could be removed and traffic restarted.

Among those who crowded Greeley Square, watching the performer at his stunt, was his wife. She swooned and was removed to a hospital.

The square was packed when Young appeared. Clinging to points of the 33d street elevated station were dozens of cameramen. Skyscraper windows were filled with men and women as Young began his climb. The police estimated the crowd at 20,000.

Young wore a white shirt, duck trousers and white shoes, which showed to outline his figure against the drab wall. On his back hung a sign reading "Safety last!"—for Young was an incorporator of the "Safety Last Society," formed last week by human flies, parachute jumpers and folk of adventurous like chase. The corporation caused them to be listed by insurance companies as "bad risks."

The "Spider" began his ascent at the north end of the hotel. Apparently he felt he was to meet death for people in windows past which he climbed said they heard him muttering: "I can't make it. I can't make it."

But he kept on.

When he reached the tenth floor his foot slipped. Down he plunged. From the crowd rose a groan that grew like the moaning of the wind. Falling close to the wall, he crashed on to the balcony. His body was deflected out into the street.

U.S. Ambassador Presents Papers To Cuban Leader

General Crowder Is First American to Hold Rank on Island.

Havana, March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—For the first time, the republic of Cuba has a diplomatic representative accredited to her wearing the rank of ambassador.

Major General Enoch H. Crowder, U. S. A., retired, today presented his ambassadorial credentials to President Zayas.

Enrique Soler y Baro, introducer of ministers, accompanied by a presidential adjutant and a squadron of cavalry, escorted General Crowder to the presidential palace, where a battalion of infantry presented arms and the band played the Cuban national anthem.

In the reception room President Zayas received General Crowder, who in a brief address said his instructions were "constantly to endeavor to advance the interests and prosperity of both governments." The new ambassador then handed his credentials to Dr. Zayas, who introduced General Crowder to the members of his cabinet.

Dr. Zayas, in welcoming General Crowder, expressed his personal gratification, and that of the Cuban people, at the appointment of an ambassador by the United States and particular satisfaction over the fact that General Crowder was known to be a friend and well-wisher of Cuba. At the end of the ceremony General Crowder formally presented the personnel of the embassy.

As the ambassador left the palace the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner." The American embassy offices will be installed in the same building with the consulate. The private residence of General Crowder will be the legation building in the Cerro.

JURY TO PROBE MOB ATROCITIES

Richard, of Mer Rouge, last August 24. From the panel of twenty summoned for jury duty Judge Odom selected J. C. Evans, of Okridge, a farmer, as foreman.

Estimates of the number of klansmen on the jury ran as high as six, but this feature did not seem to be regarded as of importance, since the attorney general had stated that he would be willing to place the evidence before a jury composed entirely of klansmen if they would only discharge their duty as sworn officials of the court.

B. U. Hood, one of the jurymen, was called as a witness at the open hearing, but when he took the stand and was questioned concerning his knowledge of the kidnapping of Daniel and Richard it developed he was at work in a distant part of the parish the day it occurred and knew nothing of it until the next day.

Report Ready Soon.

Nothing concerning his inquiry is expected from the jury until it makes its final report to the court. Criminal cases of a routine character which it will investigate are usually few in number and it is believed it will be ready to report within a week or ten days.

The state will present a brief of the transcript of the testimony taken at the open hearing and it was hinted today that it might call one or two witnesses who testified then in order to clear up for the jury several features of the case.

Citizens of Bastrop who have been speculating on the outcome of the jury's inquiry into the masked band activities seem to agree on two points, that there will be no more than a dozen indictments, and that none of them will charge murder.

Alfonso Denies Report He Plans To Yield Crown

"Ready to Do Duty, and Even Die, If Necessary, In Executing It."

London, March 5.—According to advices from Madrid to The Times, the reputation by King Alfonso of the idea of abdicating was provoked by an article in The Action, representing Alfonso as dispirited because of the intrigues of professional politicians and anxious to leave the throne.

The Action called on all good Spaniards to rally around the king and urge him to become a dictator.

The correspondent to The Times says the idea of a royal Mussolini is doubtless a mad idea which Alfonso would be the last to consider, except as a desperate effort; but he adds there is no doubt The Action's article is symptomatic of the general discontent in Spain, which is being fanned from several sides while the elements of possible disturbances are multiplying.

The correspondent announces the existence of a military organization of 30,000 members, which is devoted to combatting all political abuses and strikes by socialists. He says, however, that this is not a movement comparable to the fascists.

A dispatch from Madrid Saturday quoted King Alfonso in a speech at the inauguration of the new library of fine arts as giving definite denial to rumors of the possibility of his abdicating.

"It will give me much pleasure to lay the foundation stone of this school and, if possible, also the last stone," said Alfonso. "I say this because of the recent rumor published in a newspaper indicating that I was about to abdicate. I am not a deceiver. I desire to remain at my post. I am always ready to do my duty, and even to die, if necessary, in executing it."

"The king of Spain could never abdicate in order to avoid dealing with the problems and difficulties presenting themselves."

that he served a sentence in the penitentiary for infraction of the laws, but he has since reformed and is today a minister of the gospel."

At this point Mayor Pro Tem Gordon rapped for order, stating that the issue before the council did not involve the reputation of any man. Mr. Couch, requesting the floor for "personal privilege," stated that all he wanted to know was whether the rumors were true that the police committee chairman had been accompanied on his Memphis trip by Bert Donaldson.

Sees Another Scandal.

"Behind all this," said Councilman Couch, "I can visualize the unseen hand of another bunco scandal. If the police committee and city council does not watch itself closely, Atlanta will be plunged into another bunco scandal even worse than that of two years ago."

Alderman Armistead demanded the floor on a point of personal privilege, after the mayor pro tem had again sounded the gavel for order.

"I want to say that there is a character assassin about the city hall who has been scattering a pack of dirty, filthy lies about me and members of the police committee. I do not know who he is and I would regret to know that he was a member of this body," Armistead declared.

"There are several members of council who claimed through the newspapers that they had something of a sensational nature to tell council regarding the police committee. Alderman J. L. Carpenter was one of these persons quoted. I would like to ask him to reveal his sensational disclosures," he concluded.

Alderman Carpenter immediately sprang to his feet, stating that he had never remarked that his disclosures were of a sensational character, but that he had remarked that he would like to be informed whether the rumors were true regarding Armistead's visit to Memphis with Bert Donaldson. Directing his remarks to Armistead he declared:

Charles' Mistake.

"I have said before and I say it to you now that the police committee has made a mistake in its supervision of the police department. You have gone down to the police station and deliberately taken the reins of control from the hands of those in whose power they were rightfully entrusted."

The police committee, by its actions, has not only demoralized the police department but has acted without authority, much to the detriment of the best welfare of the city."

Gordon Ends Wrangle.

For the third time Mayor Pro Tem Gordon rapped for order, warning council members engaged in the controversy to confine themselves to the matters pending before the body.

The recommendations to increase Captain Sturdivant's salary from $160 to $200, and Secretary Morris' salary $25 per month additional for keeping the records of the police committee, were then placed to a vote, council adopting the favorable report of the finance committee which opposed the increases.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With A Home-Made Mixture.

Jocely Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of barium, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off." (—Ad.)

VISITS HERE TODAY

Noted Editor and Tobacco Organizer Will Address Atlantans.

Judge R. W. Bingham, editor and publisher of The Courier-Journal, of Louisville, Ky., is in Atlanta today and will be the guest of honor this afternoon at a luncheon at the Capital City club, given by President J. E. Conwell, of the Georgia Co-operative Cotton Growers' association.

Judge Bingham was the chief factor in the organization of the tobacco growers of Kentucky, for the co-operative marketing of their crops, a movement which has proven of inestimable benefit by controlling the orderly marketing of tobacco, instead of the old system under which each man sold his own crop as best he might, thus flooding the market and depressing the price as soon as the new crops were ready for sale.

He has recently been touring in south Georgia, addressing the farmers of that section in support of such organizations for the cotton, peanut and peanut growers of the state. This movement for co-operative marketing in Georgia is making rapid strides among the growers of several different staple crops and is being heartily backed and aided by the market bureau of the state department of agriculture.

Mr. Conwell, as president of the cotton growers' organization along this line, is actively interested in the work.

considered at Yale university. The State Druggists' association is engaged in raising a fund of $100,000 for this purpose.

NEGROES VOTE FUND FOR CHARITY WORK

The Service Foundation company, a negro organization, voted $800 to the colored auxiliary of the Associated Charities. It was announced Monday by Miss Louise Ware, secretary of the Associated Charities.

The Service Foundation company is comprised of several enterprises among them the Standard Life Insurance company, the Service Realty company, and the Citizens Trust company.

Within 20 years, France plans to build a naval fleet of 700,000 tons, including auxiliary ships. This figure included 65,000 tons of submarines and 40,000 tons for airplane-carrying ships.

LOWE IS APPOINTED GUARDIAN MANAGER

An announcement of unusual interest is the appointment of Frank B. Lowe as manager for the Guardian Life Insurance company, of New York, effective immediately. For the past 17 years Mr. Lowe has been identified with the Northwestern Mutual Life, and for the past two years has been a member of the firm of Yancey and Lowe, from which he resigned March 1.

Mr. Lowe's rise in life insurance work has been rapid, his ability as a large personal producer and successful organizer having long been recognized. The Guardian Life is known as one of America's oldest and most conservative life insurance companies.

R. N. R. Bardwell, supervisor of agencies for the Guardian Life for the southern states, will continue to make his office with the company.

Save from $52 to $78
a year

You will be amazed to see how the use of "Bull" Durham will cut down the cost of your smoking.

How is it possible to give you quality at the low cost of 10 cents for 50 cigarettes?

Here's one reason: The government tax alone on 50 machine-made cigarettes is 15 cents—5 CENTS MORE THAN THE COST OF 50 "BULL" DURHAM CIGARETTES TO YOU!

The average smoker saves $1 to $1.50 a week by "rolling his own" from "Bull"—or from $52 to $78 a year. This makes quite a Christmas fund—or pays for a fine trip.

★ What a place "Bull" Durham holds in the hearts of Americans! Can you think of any other brand that has been the favorite of three generations?

Look at its history. From the Civil War to the Great War "Bull" Durham has been the American's greatest standby. Sixty years.

There really is no smoke in the world so altogether satisfactory.

A "Bull" smoker never switches. You can't interest him in any new experiments. He carries his preference wherever he goes.

This is because the special flavor and aroma of "Bull" Durham make a cigarette that can not be duplicated.

Find out. You will never know how good a cigarette can really be until you roll your own out of "Bull".

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

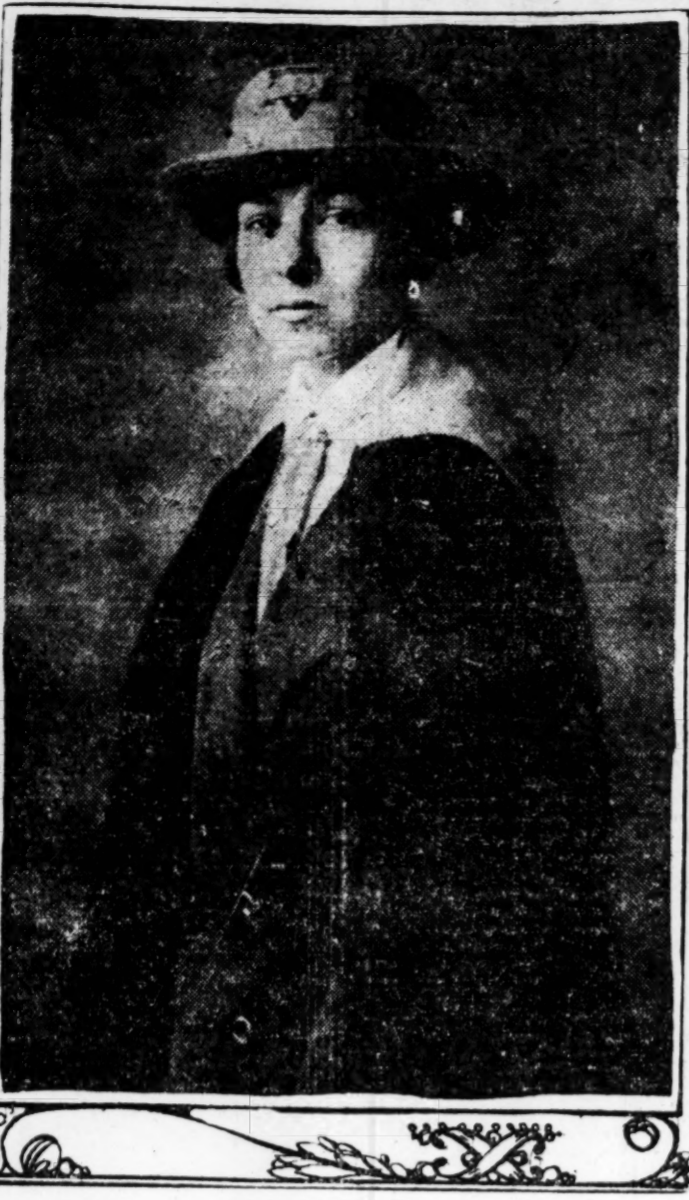

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive, Method that Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as catarrh. You can now get rid of it by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and essences, which you breathe in a dainty pipe or cigarette. The smoke-vapor is inhaled into all the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs and carries medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing and is entirely harmless. It contains no cubebs or tobacco, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy which may be had at any drug store; or if you desire proof of its beneficial and pleasant effect, send ten cents (with or without stamps) to Dr. Blosser, Co., 2710, Atlanta, Ga., for a trial package—(adv.)

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Brooks Mell

Mrs. Mary Brown Mell, wife of Brooks Mell, who died Sunday. The photograph shows her attired in the uniform she wore while in Y. M. C. A. service in France during the world war.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Brown Mell, wife of Brooks Mell, who died Sunday morning at the residence of her father, George M. Brown, were held Monday afternoon from his home, at 548 Peachtree street.

Dr. Ashby Jones, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, and Dr. Richard Ome Elmer, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was private in West View cemetery. The following served as pallbearers: Harry Hallman, George T. Northern, Charles L. Greene, Turner Jones, Robert P. McFarly and Dr. W. P. Nicholson. Funeral arrangements were in charge of H. M. Patterson and Son.

The funeral was attended by members of the Colonial Dames, the Junior League, the D. A. R. and the Overseas club, of which organizations Mrs. Mell was a member. Members of the Overseas club were present in a body and attired in uniform.

Of Prominent Family.

Mrs. Mell was a granddaughter of Judge Samuel B. Hoyt and former Governor Joseph E. Brown. She was born in Atlanta on May 24, 1893.

She received her preparatory education in Atlanta public schools, Vassar college, and later attended the Walnut Hill school, at Natick, Mass., and received her college education at Vassar, graduating in 1917.

Mrs. Mell was a member of the executive board of the Woman's Missionary society, and chairman of the Young Matrons' circle of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church. During the war she was with the Junior League unit of the Y. M. C. A. overseas, and saw service at Montone, Paris, and Le Mans, France. She was affectionately known in France as "La Petite Marie Brown."

For the high degree of efficiency, the love and sympathy shown in her service in France, she received letters of appreciation from Mrs. Willard B. Strait, of the Junior League, and Mrs. Shide, chairman of woman's work for the Y. M. C. A. in France.

Married in 1920.

About four months following her return from France she married Brooks Mell, in the fall of 1920. Mr. Mell is vice president of the Atlanta real estate board and a director of the Morris Plan bank.

During her girlhood days Mrs. Mell was a member of the First Baptist church, although in recent years she belonged to the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

She is survived by her husband, her parents, a sister, Miss Corrie Hoyt Brown, and a brother, George M. Brown, Jr.

NO MOVE IS MADE TO AID SCHOOLS IN COLLEGE PARK

College Park, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—No action was taken at the meeting here tonight of the city council looking toward the relieving of the serious condition of the public school finances.

It had been planned to present a petition asking for an election on the question of levying a special tax for the schools. Announcement had been made by the school authorities that unless some method was devised immediately to raise additional funds for the schools they should be forced to close.

The question of raising the school tax again will be brought up at a meeting of the board Wednesday night, it was announced.

Rotary School Committee In Charge of Luncheon At Capital City Club

The grammar school committee of the Rotary club will have charge of the program of the Rotarians at their regular luncheon meeting at the Capital City club today.

A full report will be made by the committee on the progress made in its work with the boys, a phase of Rotary activity now being pushed zealously by every member. The work is being done through the schools, the parents and such institutions as train the boy.

BOTTLEERS WILL MEET IN ATLANTA TODAY

Coca-Cola Sales and Advertising Conference Follows Georgia Bottler Meet.

More than 1,000 coca-cola dealers and their salesmen from all sections of the United States and Canada will convene for their first annual sales and advertising conference at the plant on North Avenue Wednesday.

The Georgia Bottlers' association is holding its annual meeting at the Kimball house today. Many bottlers are members of both bodies.

A special preliminary executive meeting will be held today at the plant by committees of the Coca-Cola organization, appointed to discuss plans for advertising and sales.

The Coca-Cola conference is being held to bring about a better spirit of cooperation and promote a better understanding of the most modern and up-to-date methods of advertising and to stimulate business.

Entertainment Planned.

A number of entertainments have been planned for the visitors, including a theater party at the Forsyth Wednesday evening, a barbecue at the plant Wednesday noon, and a luncheon at the plant Thursday.

The conference will be in session for two days. Harrison Jones, vice president and director of sales of the Coca-Cola company, will preside.

Among those who will speak at the meetings are Dr. Charles E. Casper, professor of chemistry of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy; Harold Hirsch, general counsel for the company; Charles A. Davis, sales manager of the American Art works, of New York; C. F. Roland, sales manager for the company in Canada; Charles J. Carmody, manager of the O. J. Gable company, of Pittsburgh; W. C. D'Arer, president of the D'Arer Advertising company, St. Louis; Roy G. Booker, of Atlanta, southeastern sales manager for Whitehead and Hodge company, of New York; and George P. Hunter, secretary and treasurer of the Coca-Cola company, of Chattanooga.

Officers of the conference are C. H. Candler, president; Harrison Jones, vice president and director of sales; R. S. McEach, vice president and director of advertising; and C. V. Rainwater, secretary of the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling company.

Approximately 75 members of the Georgia Bottlers' association will assemble for their annual convention today at the Kimball house. Two sessions will be held, the first opening at 10 o'clock this morning and the second at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

W. C. Haler, of Albany, president of the association, will preside. Other officers are Fred S. Gould, Atlanta, secretary and treasurer, and J. C. May, Augusta, vice president.

The day's program was outlined Monday by members of the executive committee at the Kimball house.

Mrs. Grace H. Harte, a Chicago has gone to Europe to study renting laws and conditions in England and other countries in the interest of the Chicago Tenants' league.

WATER AND PAVING MONEY IS NEEDED

Ashley Declares Street Committee Is Short of Funds—New Ordinance Proposed to Council.

Thirty-five petitions from virtually all wards of the city requesting water mains and street paving were read in council Monday afternoon by Councilman C. L. Ashley, chairman of the street committee, who stated that the petitions were being held up because of limited funds in these departments for carrying on municipal improvements.

Councilman Ashley declared that unless council devised means whereby funds could be obtained immediately for these improvements, the water extension and street paving programs would be halted and that it would be necessary to considerably reduce the forces in the construction department.

Mr. Ashley's request will be discussed by the finance committee at its next session.

An ordinance disqualifying relatives of any member of council from appearing before the council or any of its committees in an advisory capacity or as their attorney, was introduced without discussion to the ordinance committee and is scheduled to come up for discussion next Friday week.

Alderman Armistead refused to comment on the proposed measure but it was regarded in political circles as being aimed at Alderman J. L. Carpenter, of the eleventh ward, father of W. Paul Carpenter, who has been active in behalf of Former Detective Chief Lamar Poole.

An ordinance providing for a $50 annual tax per table on all pool and billiard halls of the city, introduced by Alderman J. R. Benchman and Councilman L. J. Cassels, was also referred without discussion to the tax committee.

Alderman Benchman announced recently that he would introduce a measure to abolish pool and billiard halls in Atlanta, but that he had been informed by City Attorney James L. Tyson, that it would be necessary to obtain a charter amendment before this could be done.

MOTHER SEEKS SON

Companion Found Dead, She Fears for His Safety.

A grief-stricken mother who does not know whether her son, Carson Dalton Newman, 20, is dead or alive, appealed to The Constitution Monday for aid in gaining some information concerning the boy. She said that he had left his home, Columbia, Ala., in a skiff in company with a cousin on January 14. The boy's cousin was found three weeks later in the Chattahoochee river with a crushed skull, and it is not known whether the other young man met with the same fate or not.

She described him as being 5 feet 10 inches tall, with dark complexion. At the time of his departure he was wearing a khaki wool overcoat with red stripes, overalls over blue pants and No. 7 shoes. His mother, Mrs. Martha Newman, Columbia, Ala., will appreciate any information that would lead to the finding of her son, or if dead, his body.

STOP SUNDAY FREIGHT

Musella Man Says It Is Against Law.

Now comes W. A. Bennett, of Musella, Ga., who wants to stop the freight trains in Georgia from running on Sunday. Says Mr. Bennett, "It is a sin." Therefore, having already armed himself with a legal opinion that the law prohibits movement of freight on the Seventh day, he asks the governor to say the word and presto! the wheels will cease from turning.

ATLANTA FIRM WINS BRIDGE CONTRACT

Contracts for erection of an overhead bridge and three culverts near the city limits of Thomasville have been let by the state highway commission to the Municipal Engineering and Construction company, of Atlanta, their bid being $9,386.71.

Cement for the work is to be supplied by the state highway department, and it is estimated that the material for the project will cost $2,478.60. The company is being given 150 working days in which to complete the job, which will require 282.2 cubic yards of concrete work for the bridge and 103.7 cubic yards for the culverts.

There were four bidders for the contract, others being G. S. Wright, of Nicholson, Ga.; R. M. Michum, of Augusta, and the Atkinson Construction company, of Macon.

TIRE DEALERS FORM NEW ORGANIZATION

J. L. Carroll Heads Permanent Body Designed to Help Service.

A permanent organization of the Atlanta tire dealers was effected Monday evening at a meeting held in the Auditorium. J. L. Carroll, of the J. L. Carroll company, and one of the oldest and best known tire men in the city, was chosen to head the new organization, which is a division of the Atlanta Automobile association.

Edward S. Gay, of Edward S. Gay, Inc., was elected vice president. He is well known in automobile circles, though comparatively new in the tire business. F. J. Kreis, of the West End Tire and Battery company, was elected secretary, and Sam Levy, of the Prior Tire company, was elected treasurer.

C. V. Hohenstein, executive secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, and the Atlanta Automotive Equipment association, will serve as executive secretary of the tire dealers, as the four bodies are affiliated, and have one executive office in the Gould building.

GOVERNOR IS INVITED

Asked to Greet Legion Head at Savannah.

Chatham Post No. 36, of the American Legion, at Savannah, has invited Governor Hardwick to be a member of the reception committee which will greet Alvin M. Owsley, national commander of the legion, when he arrives in Savannah on Saturday next.

Invitation to attend and speak before a dinner to be given at the Capital City club on March 17, by the Georgia Railway and Power company was also received on Monday. The company at that time will entertain delegates from all municipalities served by its lines, as well as those to be served in the near future, for the purpose of conferring on ways and means of inducing new industries to locate in north Georgia.

WORLD WAR VETERAN WALKS 18,000 MILES

After having been given only six months to live, Patrick Thomas Howard, of Austin, Tex., world war veteran, has now completed 18,000 miles of a proposed 20,000-mile hike, and declares he has gained 30 pounds in weight and acquired a chest expansion of one and a half inches greater than ever. Howard was gassed, wounded and burned with liquid fire and physicians, he declared, thought his death only a question of a few months.

To Hold Tax Conference.

A federal income tax conference will be conducted by the junior chamber of commerce Tuesday night, March 6 at 7:15 o'clock, at which A. W. Claus, auditor and income tax specialist, will assist any member in solving tax problems. All members are urged to attend and bring visitors.

KIWANISANS TO HEAR LECTURE ON EGYPT

The Kiwanis club will hold its weekly meeting in the chamber of commerce building Tuesday morning at 12 o'clock. Dr. W. A. Suelton will give a talk on his trip to Egypt. Dr. Shelton is a lecturer of many universities and has charge of the museum there. George Eubanks is chairman of the entertaining committee.

Read This Important Message From the Manager It May Be a Last-Minute Help to You in Winning

Were you one of the wise ones who carefully studied the list of club members published in yesterday's Constitution?

If so, you noted the fact that the list is considerably smaller now than ever before in the history of the Help-Yourself Club campaign.

Monday's list was smaller by approximately fifty names than was the membership list published on Thursday of last week. Which is equivalent to saying that fifty club members were dropped during this time, leaving fifty additional prosperous towns and communities to be included in the "virgin territory" list.

The fifty people omitted from the list, it was found, were not living up to their opportunity. Either they did not want to own an automobile of their own, or else they did not care to go out and EARN one.

The pace in the special extra prize offer is warming up. They failed to warm up in company with the pace, and as a result they were removed from the club list in order that their names may not prevent ambitious men and women who want automobiles of their own to join the happy army of motorists on vernal roads this spring from joining the Help-Yourself Club to represent these towns.

This action means that fifty more prosperous towns are added to the "golden opportunity column" presented ambitious men and women all over the south.

Do you want to own the luxurious Anderson Six touring car or the handsome Gardner touring car with the sporty disc wheels offered as special extra prizes in the offer which expires Saturday night promptly at 9 o'clock?

If so, don't wait longer.

You can enter your name from a "virgin territory" town or community, which is absolutely untouched so far as securing subscriptions to "The Standard Southern Newspaper" is concerned. By doing this you can gain a distinct advantage over old club members, who have partially exhausted their territory and who have not a perfectly clear, fresh field in which to operate.

And just remember that "territory" is unlimited in this campaign. Most of your friends live in your home town, but in surrounding towns and rural communities you have scores of friends and acquaintances among whom you may extend your activities.

New candidates who are willing to stage a whirlwind campaign of five days for the Anderson or the Gardner special prizes need not limit themselves to their particular home towns.

In a twenty-five mile radius you probably have several hundred friends who know of the peerless qualities of The Constitution and who will be interested listeners when you ask them to aid you in your activities for a handsome prize.

Cover your home town first; then keep at it in other towns nearby. If you have made up your mind to win one of the two special auto prizes, five days is ample time for you to forge forward and win.

Old club members are also advised to extend their campaigns to neighboring towns and sections. Don't stay strictly at home and let a more ambitious man or woman go you one better.

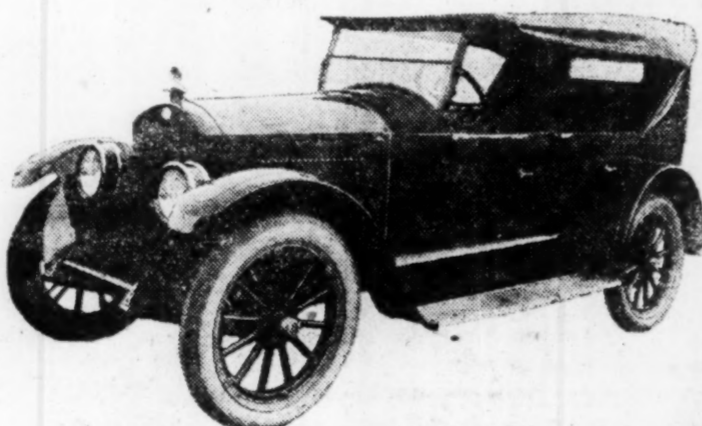

And all club members should keep this fact well in mind during the special extra prize campaign:

Money, not votes, counts—and the two club members turning in the greatest amounts of money between February 19 and March 10 (Saturday night at 9 o'clock) will win the Anderson and the Gardner. However, regular and bonus votes at the rate of 75,000 extra votes for every $25 turned in on subscriptions—and 3,000 extra votes for every additional dollar above the $25 minimum—will be credited to club members.

These votes will decide winners of the original list of forty big prizes—sixteen of them expensive automobiles and 24 of them big cash awards.

SUBSCRIBERS, PLEASE NOTE—while a subscription payment of only THREE MONTHS entitles a candidate to the number of votes indicated in the voting schedule (Daily and Sunday 12,000, or Daily only, 10,000 votes), the greater the amount of your subscription the more votes your candidate will receive. Short period subscriptions may be extended at any time and your candidate will be given the difference in votes between the short term subscription votes and what the total amount paid calls for. In sending in such extensions, club members should be sure to mark them "SECOND PAYMENT" subscriptions. Give your candidate the benefit of your subscriptions. PREMATURE BLAST INJURES WORKMAN Negro Who Went to Clear Danger Zone of Children Has Part of Head Blown Away.

Homer Cook, negro, of 237-A Orme street, is in the Grady hospital, probably fatally injured, as the result of a charge of dynamite that was "set off" prematurely Monday afternoon by a fellow workman. Cook's jaw and face were practically blown off, doctors at the hospital stated, and it is thought he will die. The explosive was "set off" by Joe Lawrence, negro, by means of a battery. Both are employees of the MacDougall Construction company, and were engaged in blasting work just off North Boulevard, beyond Piedmont park.

M. B. Wellborn and Miss Marion Gillespie Reach Egypt March 10.

Two Atlantans, M. B. Wellborn, governor of the federal reserve bank, and Miss Marion Gillespie, will be included in a great number of tourists who will meet March 10 at the recently discovered tomb of Tutankhamen, it was announced in dispatches from the American Express company, Monday. Mr. Wellborn and Miss Gillespie sailed on the S. S. Mauretania on a special cruise of the Mediterranean November 31.

Before the celebrated name of Egypt's ancient monarch assumed a prominent position in newspaper headlines throughout the world, three cruises had been planned by the American Express company, the itineraries of which show that on March 10, the 1,450 American tourists will gather in one body at the tomb of Tutankhamen, 550 passengers of the Mauretania, 900 of the Mauretania, and 300 of the S. S. Caronia.

G. O. P. PRAISES 67TH CONGRESS

Worth-While Constructive Legislation Passed, According to Republican National Committee.

Washington, March 5.—More worth-while, constructive legislation was enacted by the sixty-seventh congress than by any congress in peace times, it was declared in a statement issued today by the republican national committee. The effect "of this splendid record," it was said, "is visible on every hand."

"The tremendous, and in many instances unprecedented, increase in industrial activity, in number of wage earners, in payrolls, in bank deposits, in savings accounts, in all wholesale and retail business which has taken place during the past two years," the statement said, "has not been accidental. Conditions have grown steadily and consistently better from month to month since March, 1921, during all of which time the sixty-seventh congress was practically in continuous session. This improvement would not, indeed, would have taken place had that congress been enacting laws hostile to or hurtful of the industrial, agricultural, commercial and financial interests."

Declaring that the outstanding work of the congress which adjourned yesterday was its fiscal legislation, the committee statement pointed to enactment of the budget law, which, it said, was "easily the most conspicuous piece of legislation of this generation, and had resulted in a drastic cut in expenditures and in decreasing the number of federal employees by nearly 100,000. The congress, also, it stated, also slipped one billion dollars a year from the country's tax burden."

The committee said that a series of laws "of particular benefit to the farming interests, but none of which can be classified as section or class legislation" was passed.

"In fact, the greatest praise that could be offered the sixty-seventh congress," it was added, "is a statement of the fact that it enacted no class or sectional or destructive laws."

YOUTH IS KILLED BY STRAY BULLET IN FIGHT AT STILL

Athens, Ga., March 5.—Clyde Miller, 16-year-old son of Sylvester Miller, was killed in a shooting affray at what is alleged to be his father's whisky distillery in Barrow county late Saturday night, it was learned here early today.

The young man was shot by Henry Wall, a man 40 years of age, whose quarrel with Rose Sells is said to have brought on the shooting.

Wall was arrested Saturday night and confined in the Barrow county jail at Winder. Arrest of other men near the still is expected momentarily.

According to Sheriff Camp, of Barrow county, the men were gathered about the distillery, which it is alleged, Sylvester Miller claims belonged to him. They had been drinking beer when Sells and Wall are said to have begun quarreling. Wall claims Sells hit him on the head with a rock and began firing, a stray bullet hitting young Miller, causing his death almost instantly.

VALENTINO MUST POSTPONE PLANS FOR REMARRIAGE

Chicago, March 5.—Rodolph Valentino, motion picture actor, and his second wife, Winifred Hudnut, will not be re-married before March 9, his legal counsel announced today. It had been learned, the lawyer said, that Valentino's divorce from his first wife, Jean Acker, would not be final until the above date. Rodolph and Winifred were married in Mexico shortly after the divorce and will be remarried to make the bonds legal in this country. Elaborate arrangements for a wedding dinner had been made for a wedding dinner had been made in preparation for the wedding which was expected to have been held today.

Mr. Ayer was 75. He was the son of N. W. Ayer, who founded the advertising firm which grew to be one of the largest in the world.

J. O. CLEVELAND DIES AT HIS HOME IN TROUP

LaGrange, Ga., March 5.—(Special.) J. O. Cleveland, one of Troup county's oldest and most widely known citizens, died at his home in the Harrisonville district Monday morning at 5 o'clock after a short illness. At the time of his death Mr. Cleveland was 80 years old. He had spent practically all his life in this country. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at Asbury church and the remains interred in Hillview cemetery. He is survived by his widow, one son, W. G. Cleveland, one daughter, Mrs. Etta Dodd; two brothers, F. C. and E. P. Cleveland, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Moore.

Carver Credits His Discoveries To Divine Help

Negro Scientist Displays Discoveries on Cecil Roof This Week.

"I have refused to leave Tuskegee institute to take up any one of several flattering offers made me by corporations, simply because I believe that it is God's wish that I should develop the commercial possibilities of southern agricultural products. I believe that if I should leave the institute, where so much of my work has been a success, my gifts would fail me."

That was the statement Monday by Professor George W. Carver, noted scientist and chemist of Tuskegee institute, who is exhibiting the results of his researches in the roof garden of the Cecil hotel. The exhibition opens at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and continues through Thursday. The public is invited between the hours of 11 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Commercial possibilities of sweet potato, peanut, pecan and clay will be displayed. Only a part of his entire collection will be exhibited. From the peanut he has developed 160 products, 38 from the pecan and 300 from southern clays. Products of various southern grown fibrous plants and woodstains will also be on display.

Numbers of scientists believe that Professor Carver's findings relative to cold water clay paints are similar to the lost Egyptian art. Five pictures, drawn by his own hand, will demonstrate the possibilities of his paints.

In connection with his cold water paints, made from clay, Mr. Carver stated Monday that Georgia is probably one of the richest states in this type of clay in the south.

Professor Carver was born in slavery and was torn away from his mother when only two weeks old.

SEE INCENDIARISM IN FURNITURE FIRE

Fireman Lieutenant Hurt In Campbell-Brownlee Blaze—Theft Attempt Hinted by Probers.

Damage estimated at $12,000 to $20,000 was done by flames discovered just before 5 o'clock Monday morning in Campbell-Brownlee Furniture company's store, 381 Edgewood avenue. The cause of the fire has not been determined by fire officials, but it is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Lieutenant Claude Reed, of company No. 12, was overcome by the smoke, falling from a balcony inside of the burning building and sustaining serious bruises. Doctors stated he was not dangerously hurt, however. The fire started in the office in the rear of the building, it is claimed. The knobs and dial of the safe in the office showed signs of having been tampered with.

Patrolmen J. J. Wilkes and T. J. Smith had examined the lock on the front door half an hour before the fire broke out, and found the place intact. When fire officials arrived the door was ajar and showed signs of having been closed by some one making a hurried departure.

Plainclothes officers have been detailed to investigate the fire.

Theosophist to Speak.

Hard Fight Saves Camp Threatened By Blaze Monday

Columbia, S. C., March 5.—Fire originating from particles of powder and debris thrown into dry grass by an exploding 155 millimeter shell for several hours today threatened Camp Jackson, world war training camp situated on the outskirts of Columbia. The twenty men stationed at the camp for guard duty fought the fire from early this morning until dark tonight before it was brought under control and all danger to the camp removed.

Captain John Fawcett, commandant at the camp, said tonight that the ordnance department had been inspecting a store of ammunition at the camp. All shells, the safety of which there is doubt, are being exploded. He said that when the fire started this morning it spread so rapidly that for a time it could not be controlled and it was only by back-firing over a large area that the flames were prevented from reaching the camp buildings.

No more Rheumatism

S.S.S. Is the Great Builder of Red Blood-Cells and Rheumatism Must Go! Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? No! No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glow again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend my way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S.S.S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S.S.S. is waiting to help you. There is a reason why S.S.S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S.S.S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system-strengthening, nerve-invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, black heads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firm, start S.S.S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

Money is replaced in COFFEE-POT BANK

Athens, Ga., March 5.—Bill Drake's "coffee pot" bank again sprung into the limelight today when word was received that the Oglethorpe farmer had found $2,600 in the "depository" from which $5,500 is said to have been stolen two weeks ago.

Mr. Drake kept the money in a coffee pot in his cotton seed house because he was skeptical of banks, he said. He sold a $1,500 tract of timber a few days before the money was lost and deposited it, along with $4,000 in the coffee pot. Going back later to get "some change" he found the pot empty and the $5,500 gone. The coffee pot was left in the seed house and Mr. Drake's sons were arrested on his demand and lodged in the jail at Lexington. They denied knowledge of the theft and were released.

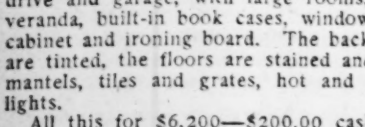

Mr. Drake believes the "thieves" became frightened and put $2,600 of the money back into the coffee pot. He denies that other people are using the coffee pot as a depository.

EIGHT HOUSES SOLD THE FIRST WEEK

This is good progress, but the best thing about it is that they are good houses. We use nothing but long-leaf, yellow pine lumber and good material of every kind, with sound construction and good workmanship.

Long experience has shown the wisdom of this kind of building. Good houses for good people has been our policy for thirty years and you see the result in happy homes and delightful residence communities.

In building a thousand houses we have learned to put into a home the utmost of comfort and convenience that the price will provide. That is well illustrated in the house shown in this picture:

Attractive House at 77 Graham Street

This beautiful house is on an elevated, east front lot, 50x150 feet to an alley. It has 6 rooms, bath and sleeping porch, side drive and garage, with large rooms, 10-foot ceilings, very large veranda, built-in book cases, window seat, china cabinet, medicine cabinet and ironing board. The back porch is screened, the walls are tinted, the floors are stained and finished, and there are oak mantels, tiles and grates, hot and cold water, gas and electric lights.

All this for $6,200—$200.00 cash and $60.00 a month, with perfect title and no mortgage to assume.

ALLEGED PRINCE DENIES CHARGE BREACH OF PEACE

New Britain, Conn., March 5.—Harold E. Scharm, erstwhile "Prince Louis de Chateaux de Bussigny de Bourbon," pleaded not guilty in police court here today of a technical charge of breach of the peace. His case was continued until Thursday.

He is facing a perjury charge as the result of statements in his application for a license to wed Miss Lillian Wilkerson, with whom he motored from Newark, N. J. It is stated he already had a wife living when he married Miss Wilkerson. She is held here as a witness.

UNITE IN PRAYER FOR WORLD PEACE URGES CARDINAL

Boston, Mass., March 5.—Americans are urged to unite in prayer for world peace by Cardinal O'Connor, who says those who have governed the world have failed to answer the pleadings of the people. Speaking in the cathedral of the Holy Cross he declared yesterday that the nation's prayers and the nation's laws combined would work together for safety and order and justice in a way which mere mandates could never achieve.

McCormick's Wives Share the Honors At Chicago Concerts

Chicago, March 5.—Mme. Ganna Walska, wife of Harold F. McCormick, and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, the Harvard company head's first wife, shared social honors at the auditorium here yesterday, the first attending the final concert of Chaplin, the Russian bass, in the afternoon, and Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick being present at the premiere of the Russian grand opera company's "A Night of Love." The appearance of the first Mrs. McCormick in her box at the performance of the Chicago Grand Opera company ever has been a cue for turning toward her a battery of long-looked and open glasses, and it was so last night when she took a seat well down front.

Mme. Walska previously had attended several offerings of the Russian company and there was a mighty craning of necks in an attempt to see if she were present. No opportunity for society to observe the two ladies left for further consideration. A formal announcement also said Mme. Walska had agreed tentatively to appear next season with the Russian grand opera company.

Later it was announced she had expressed willingness to appear in two performances, the titles and dates left for further consideration. A formal announcement also said Mme. Walska had agreed tentatively to appear next season with the Russian grand opera company.

DENIES HIS DEATH Police Seek Practical Joker Who Made Report.

Police searched Monday for a mysterious "Dr. E. A. McClellan," who Sunday night reported to Assistant Police Chief E. L. Jett, by telephone, the sudden death of A. L. McClain, of 266 Humphries street, who, according to information furnished by the supposed doctor, had fallen dead in Whipple avenue, just outside of the city limits.

"Dr. McClellan" told Chief Jett that he lived at 188 West Peachtree street, but inquired by a Constitution reporter at that address shows the doctor to be unknown there. The doctor went so far as to tell Chief Jett that he had diagnosed the cause of the death as due to acute alcoholism.

Chief Jett dispatched two call officers to McClain's residence Sunday night to inform his wife of his death. The officers had been gone only a short while when McClain entered the door, and stated he was feeling fine and not even in bad health.

BRITISH CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN

cabinet if he would remain at the helm of the government.

Opponents of Bonar Law charge that he selected a very weak cabinet and his ministers are compared frequently to the personnel of Woodrow Wilson's cabinet during the world war.

To picture the task which confronts a British ministry, Americans must visualize what would happen in Washington if President Harding, Secretary Hughes and the others of the cabinet were forced to sit in the senate or the house and subject themselves to the criticism of the demagogue. If President Harding and Hughes think their jobs are arduous just let them try answering in person all the attacks leveled at them by Morah, Reed, etc., observers here point out.

Representation Weak.

Bonar Law's representation on the ministerial benches in the commons is notoriously weak in debating power—especially when it comes to warding off blows that come from such duellists as Lloyd George, Herbert Asquith and Ramsay MacDonald, leaders of the three parties of opposition.

To strengthen his forensic resources Bonar Law is planning to draw on the ranks of the conservative ministers who served in Lloyd George's coalition but who broke from Bonar Law's unionists when Lloyd George was WEEVIL IS DOOMED! Virginian Admits Discovery; Withholds Details.

The boll weevil is doomed. There is no more need to expend time, money, efforts and thought upon this extermination. For a gentleman up in Richmond, Va., has discovered the on infallible remedy to master the pest.

He admits it himself. (The gentleman admits it—not the weevil.) In a letter to Governor Hardwick, this great discoverer expresses surprise that the governor would pay any attention to weevil conferences, or to organizations planning to exterminate the little beastie. For why, he asks, go to all the trouble when he has conquered already?

In his letter he fails to give any details as to his process but invites the governor's communicate with him further. His name is R. H. Williams, Sr., 1719 Park avenue, Richmond, Virginia.

OLD BOND BOBS UP Missouri Man to Be Shown On Bullock Issue.

Peter J. Monaghan, attorney at law, of Kansas City, Mo., is due to learn a little something about the history of Georgia.

For attorney Monaghan has written to Governor Hardwick, informing him that he holds a $1,000 bond, issued on January 4, 1860, by the Atlanta and Chattanooga railroad, and indorsed on the back by the state of Georgia, Rufus J. Bullock, governor.

Now, Mr. Monaghan has tried to collect for that bond, at 8 per cent interest and been informed by the president of the National Security bank, of Boston, that there are no funds to meet it. And Mr. Monaghan wants to know "how come?"

sible, the train having been ordered to run at a moderate rate of speed to decrease the jolts and lurchings.

The first part of the trip was without incident, stops being made at Richmond, Va., and Rocky Mount, N. C. to change engines, and at Emporia, Va., for water. At the last named place, a small town some distance above the Virginia line, a crowd of several hundred people, including a number of school children, had gathered. The president appeared on the observation platform but beyond applause there was quiet until a tall South Carolinian stepped up, introduced himself and shook hands. Then some one inquired about Mrs. Harding to which question the president replied that "she is standing the trip very well." This broke the ice so to speak, and every one crowded around and the president shook hands with as many as time would permit.

Attorney-General Daugherty, who is just recovering from an illness of several weeks, and who is a member of the party, went to bed soon after the train left Washington, having tired himself by visiting the department of justice in the morning for the first time since taking ill. Tonight, however, he appeared rested.

B. L. Bugz to Head A., B. & A. Association; $7,920 Claims Paid

B. L. Bugz was elected president of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railway Benefit association at the organization's annual meeting at Atlanta headquarters Monday. The annual report showed that 267 claims, totaling $7,920.80, were paid. Three committees and a board of directors were also elected.

The association was organized last June for the protection of its members and their dependents in case of injury or illness.

The board of directors elected is composed of B. L. Bugz, A. W. Kirkland, Harry Huddleston, Fred Astin, S. W. Walker, J. W. Forbes, Mrs. C. B. Merritt, H. H. Lloyd, J. A. Mims, T. T. Jackson, W. J. Morris, and George M. Gentry.

They elected the following officers of the board: B. L. Bugz, president; W. J. Morris, first vice president; A. V. B. Gilbert, second vice president; George M. Gentry, secretary, and W. E. Paschall, treasurer.

Three division committees were also elected. They are: For Birmingham, Harry Huddleston, H. H. Lloyd and O. K. Whitaker; for Brunswick, C. B. Watts, L. J. Boggs and C. S. Perry; for general office, Mrs. C. S. Merritt, J. C. Nicholls and W. A. Wallace.

World Revolution Now Inevitable, Declares Lenin

Moscow, March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Lenin contributes a lengthy article to The Pravda, in which he reiterates that while a world revolution is inevitable, it is likely to be postponed until the masses of the people in India and China are sufficiently educated and developed to wage the struggle.

He says that the interventionists in Russia and Europe were defeated and the counter-revolution was broken. "The cause of disunion in the camp of the eastern exploiters and the western exploiters," namely, Japan and America.

Until the final struggle comes, in which the great masses of the east will have a part, the premier asserts that Russia must adopt an economic program capable of preventing the imperialistic European states from crushing her.

HOLD NEGRO WOMAN ON MURDER CHARGE

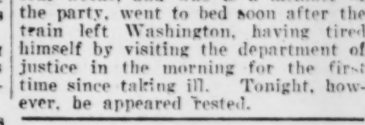

Waycross, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)

Blanche Marshall, 24-year-old negro woman of this city, was arrested today charged with the murder of Haley Blake, another negro woman living at 24 A street. Officers making the arrest stated that the Blake woman's husband was at Blanche Marshall's house. When his wife arrived unexpectedly the man ran, followed by his wife, who was stopped at the door by the younger negroes. The two women are reported having engaged in an argument, ending in the shooting of Haley Blake.

The bullet pierced the heart of the woman, who staggered to the sidewalk, where she fell dead.

Takes Place in Miami

The marriage of Miss Lala Lambright and Page Item Jones took place Monday afternoon in Miami, Fla., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Lambright, 101 St. Johns avenue.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. Lambright, and was dressed in blue crepe de chine, with a French model in blue straw, flower trimmed. She wore a corsage of orchids and valley lilies.

James Percy Lambright, brother of the bride, acted as best man. He is a young woman of charming personality, combined with a disposition of unusual sweetness. She attended Washington seminary and was a popular member of the O. B. K. society. She completed her education at Fairfax Hall, Basic Va. Her mother was Mrs. Lala Cummings, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Edwin Cummings, pioneer citizens of Atlanta. The lovely bride is an only daughter, and has two brothers, James Percy Lambright and W. E. Lambright, Jr.

Mr. Jones is the son of Mrs. Mary Semmes Jones and the late Dr. Howard Lee Jones. Before coming to Atlanta he resided in Charleston, S. C., and is originally from the Old Dominion state. He represents a combination of two F. F. V. aristocratic families. On his maternal side, his grandfather, Dr. Semmes, held the chair of modern languages at Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va. Mr. Jones attended Tech High school and was a member of the S. P. M. fraternity of the school. Later he attended Georgia Tech, and was a popular member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in the navy, and remained for two years. He is prominently connected with the Southern Insurance Underwood company in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Grove Park P. T. A.

Grove Park P. T. A. held a recent meeting commemorating Washington day and the twenty-sixth anniversary of the national P. T. A. Several readings, folk dancing and a pageant, "Returns of the Washingtons," were given by pupils from the sixth grade.

Mrs. Lena H. Cox spoke on "The History and Significance of Founders' Day," stressing the fact that the familiar Mrs. Theodore V. Bailey was a Georgian woman. On a table was a massive birthday cake, with twenty-six candles, carrying out the color scheme of pink and white. In embossed letters were the following: "1897-P. T. A.-1923."

Twenty-six boys, each carrying a large letter of the alphabet and quoting some good thing the P. T. A. has accomplished for better homes and schools, lighted a candle.

Miss Adelle Gann and James Wood, in elegant colonial costumes representing the Washingtons, bore the cake off the stage. Seventh grade girls served hot chocolate and cake to the assembled guests.

An added attraction to the program was the singing of several appropriate songs by J. Oscar Mills, Jr.

Peachtree Garden Club Is Formed Monday Afternoon

The Peachtree Garden club was formed Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jesse Draper, on Cherokee road, and tentative plans were made for a program of interesting features connected with the organization.

The purpose of the club will be to stimulate the knowledge and love of gardening among amateurs, and the membership is limited to those who own a garden and take an active interest in its design, management and culture.

The roster of women who met yesterday to discuss the plans included Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Edward Inman, Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, Mrs. Cobb Caldwell, Mrs. William P. Hill, Mrs. Frank Adair, Mrs. Edwin F. Johnson, Mrs. Ronald Hanson, Mrs. Frank Fleming, Mrs. Charles A. Sisson, Mrs. Albert Thornton and Mrs. Rix Stafford.

It was decided to have a flower show committee as well as to arrange a fall and spring flower show, a membership committee, a program chairman and a flower exchange chairman and a committee on printing.

The chairman of these different committees will be announced at the first meeting to be held Thursday morning, March 15, at 11 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club.

The officers will be named at this meeting and the by-laws and constitution adopted.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreary cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known to the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking for your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. Miss Peacock Gives Dance for Visitors.

Miss Martha Peacock entertained Thursday evening at her home in Hillview in honor of her guests, Miss Alma Castle, of Canton, and Miss Lucile Turner, of Charleston, S. C.

The spacious rooms where the guests were received were artistically decorated with spring flowers. The prettily-appointed table was adorned by a cover of Venetian lace and embroidered with a silver silver basket filled with jonquils.

The out-of-town guests were: Miss Alma Castle, of Canton; Miss Lucile Turner, of Charleston, S. C.; Miss Josephine Forshaw, of Asheville, North Carolina.

Those invited to meet the guests were: Misses Thelma King, Odessa Anderson, Cleo King, Cora Crumley, Esther Davis, Georgia McCleskey, Katherine McCleskey, Sue North, Mae King, Eva McMurthy, Arminia Nations, Claude McMurthy, and Messrs. Dallas Banks, Fred Collier, Mack Edwards, Ernest Turner, Harry Gibbs, Gordon King, U. L. Starnes, Jr., Herbert Boyd, Red Parker, Sam Boyd, Hill Shropshire, John Pilgrim, Jim Brannell, Ben Shropshire, and others.

Mrs. Walter George Is Honored.

Mrs. Walter George, who is the feted guest of Mrs. Whit Darden, was honored at luncheon Monday by Mrs. Robert Harvey at her home on Seventeenth street.

A handsome lace cloth covered the luncheon table, spring jonquils were placed in the center in a silver loving cup. Green candles in silver holders, compotes filled with mints and place cards showing apple blossoms and tiny birds further emphasized the note of spring. Six guests were invited.

In the afternoon Mrs. E. C. Borton entertained for Mrs. George at a matinee party at the Howard, after which tea was served at the Capital City club. Invited to meet Mrs. George were Mrs. Darden, Mrs. Hull Griffin, Mrs. W. S. Coleman, Mrs. Julian Jones, Mrs. H. E. Benton, Mrs. W. A. Horne, Mrs. Richardson, of Cedarhurst, and Mrs. John Milsaps.

Mrs. George was accompanied by Mrs. Darden, Mrs. Hull Griffin, Mrs. W. S. Coleman, Mrs. Julian Jones, Mrs. H. E. Benton, Mrs. W. A. Horne, Mrs. Richardson, of Cedarhurst, and Mrs. John Milsaps.

Second Annual Conference for Child Welfare

The second annual gathering of the Southern Child Welfare Workers will convene in Atlanta March 13 and 14. It will be one of the most important conferences to be held here during the year and will prove to be of much value to the workers who are striving to make the southland a better place in which to rear a child and to those who are concerned about the handicapped children in our midst.

A committee from the Georgia council of social agencies will act as hosts to the conference and have completed a most interesting and beneficial program for the two days' meet. The social side of the conference will be a delightful feature.

The arrangements committee is composed of Burr Blackburn, chairman; Mrs. Harry Goodhart, Mrs. Charles Goodman, Miss Verna Elsiniger, F. M. Strauss, L. S. Hester, Robert B. McCord, Mrs. R. D. Kerin, Miss Ada Woolfolk, Miss Rhoda Kaufman, Miss Annie Stephens, Cliff Mosier, Miss Irma Finley, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Miss Marion Stearns and Miss Lillian Lathrop.

Woman's Meeting Is Postponed.

The meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the Georgia Children's Home society has been postponed from Thursday, March 8, to Thursday, March 15, due to the illness of many officers.

The next meeting will be held at the Georgia Terrace.

Modern Topics Club to Meet.

The Modern Topics club will meet Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock with Mrs. P. F. Abernethy, at her home No. 29 Avery drive.

The reading for the morning given by Mrs. E. A. Stephens will be on the "Principal Cities of Georgia."

Miss McArthur To Be Hostess.

An enjoyable event of Friday afternoon will be the bridge-tee at which Miss Margaret McArthur will entertain at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue complimentary to Miss Margaret Elder and Miss Telside Pratt, two attractive sub-deb who have recently returned from Europe.

The guests will include a group of the friends of the honor guests.

Southerner Will Be Presented at Court.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. will be presented at the Court of St. James in June, Mrs. Vanderbilt was formerly Miss Rachel Littleton, of Kingston, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr. have taken a house in London for the season, and Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr. will be their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Littleton, of New York, who were recent visitors in Atlanta, are uncle and aunt of Mrs. Vanderbilt.

Agnes Scott Blackfriars to Present Three One-Act Plays at Woman's Club

Three members of the Blackfriars, the players' club of Agnes Scott, who will give a performance at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium on Tuesday evening. The scene is from Florence Clay Knox's play, "For Distinguished Service," and the players are three popular young Atlantans. Reclining on the sofa is "a young woman of the smart set," played by Miss Sarah Belle Broadnax. Sitting at the left is "her friend," represented by Miss Frances Harwell. The maid is Miss Frances Allston. "For Distinguished Service," with two other one-act plays, will be presented by the Blackfriars under the auspices of the Art department of the Atlanta Woman's club for the benefit of the building fund of the club and the craft department of the Tallulah Falls Mountain school.

Three one-act plays, modern, clever and appealing, will be presented for a worthy benefit on Tuesday evening at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium by the Blackfriars, the adept and famous players of Agnes Scott college.

The benefit is for a fund which the art department of the Woman's club is raising to be divided equally between the building fund of the club and the craft department of the Tallulah Falls Mountain school and the plays are interestingly up to date one-act dramas.

The Agnes Scott actors will present on Tuesday: "For Distinguished Service," by Florence Clay Knox; "The China Pig," by Evelyn Emie; "The China Pig," by Evelyn Emie; and "Lima Beans," by the ultra-modern playwright and poet, Alfred Kreymborg.

The scene is the living room of the Maynard apartment.

The last play, "Lima Beans," by the modernist, Alfred Kreymborg, is a little novel comedy, and vibrates with laughter and fun. It deals with the attempt of a wife to keep her husband's love by giving him everything that he wants to eat!

The characters of "Lima Beans" are played as follows: The Wife, Rosamond Nesler; the Husband, Montie Sevell; the Husband's Maid, Miss Kinney.

The scene is the dining room.

Miss Frances K. Goch, who is well known as a dramatic director, had charge of the coaching of the plays.

Orchestra Music.

The Agnes Scott orchestra will supply the music for the evening's entertainment and this musical feature bids fair to attract also, with such numbers on the program as the "Blue Danube Waltz," of Strauss, the waltz from "Georgiana," by Frimé, the Chinese Lullaby from "East Is West," and the waltz from the "Merry Widow."

Miss Mary Jarman is director of the orchestra, which includes Miss Louise Buchanan, in charge of the bells; Miss Mary Anne McKinney, drums; Miss Marie Thomas, triangle; and Miss Bryte Daniel, at the piano; the Misses Clark, Elizabeth Griffin, Virginia Browning, violins; the Misses Araminta Edwards, Sadibel Simons, Maude Foster, Helen Faro, Louise Phieffer, Lillian Clements, mandolins; Miss Rebecca Skoen, mello-cello; the Misses Francis Biltzer, Phillina Gilchrist, Wenona Peck, Corana Berman, guitars; and

Confessions of a Debutante

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.

I am away from my friends, Jonathan Grey, rich and elderly, to the arms of Larry, a 1922, who dances well. His wife, Mrs. Larry, shows me the foxy of my action and becomes my friend, I return home. My engagement is announced, though my affections belong to my stranger, who stayed to my coming and went with me to the office and to the house, because I believed we could never be friends. Following a week of misery, over which Jonathan quarrels with me, I regret my unkindness to him.

INSTALLMENT NO. 44.

Friday, January 19.

Again the Blue Flame.

Life is a surprise party at which we are all honor guests!

I started out on a shopping expedition this morning, an innocent enough thing apparently, but too fine for closed motors so I walked. The streets were full of hurrying people. I had gotten out early enough to mix with the best of the office crowd. There was a thrill for me in rushing along with them.

The shops were singularly interesting. I picked up a number of odds and ends that I needed and then I went into a shop for a fitting, whence I made my way back to Fifth avenue to visit one more shop before returning home for luncheon.

It was nearly 12 o'clock when I reached the counter and finally made my purchases.

While I was waiting for my change I became conscious of a presence in the group of women near me. I had not been jostled or unduly crowded but the personality of the woman seemed fairly to project and she seemed to wish it so.

I glanced at her casually and then turned away, vaguely conscious of a sense of familiarity.

She was young, possibly two or three years older than myself, not more than 22. She was well dressed. Somehow she gave the impression of being too well dressed. Her face was a trifle too rouged but in spite of the make-up there was natural attraction which could not be denied.

She stared at me in such a way that I was convinced that we must have touched experiences somewhere. But going rapidly over the faces I knew and the places I have been, I could find no niche for her.

She had a small parcel in her hand and the handsome purse which she carried bulged as if its silver meshes might cover their spoils of a morning's tour of the shops. She seemed, just then, however, to be idling.

There was an uncomfortable sense about the whole affair.

Presently I heard a low voice at my elbow.

"Madame, will you come to the office with me, please?" It was the voice of a man.

I looked up startled, expecting to find some one addressing me. Instead I saw a man speaking to the girl I had noted.

Her face paled under the rouge for a moment. Then the color flooded back.

"Why—why?" she stammered. Her voice was coarse, surprisingly so.

The man murmured something I could not understand.

The clerk brought my change and put it in my hand. I was about to leave.

Suddenly I heard the girl, a voice again.

"She's with me!" she said.

Before I realized what had happened the man was standing in front of me and put to me the same question which I had heard him ask a minute before.

And I, like the other girl, stammered: "Why—why?"

In answer the man drew back his coat. A metal snuff box was planned to his waistcoat. A detective!

Miss Colbert Honors Sub-Debs.

A lovely event of an informal nature on Monday's social calendar was the luncheon at which Miss Margaret Colbert entertained at the Capital City club, complimentary to the charming group of sub-debs who have been travelling with her in Europe during the past three months.

The richly appointed luncheon table was adorned by a Madeira lace cover and had as an effective centerpiece a silver basket filled with roses, sweet peas, and narcissi. Surrounding this were silver candlesticks, holding understated pink tapers.

The guests were the Misses Margaret Elder, Telside Pratt, Winnie Belle Davis, Effie Daniels and Miss Colbert.

Priscilla Club Is Entertained.

Mrs. Fred A. Campbell entertained the members of the Priscilla Embroidery club delightfully Thursday afternoon at her home on Angier avenue.

Those present were: Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Daniel Boone, Mrs. C. B. Babb, Mrs. L. M. Auchbacher, Mrs. M. E. Long, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. A. A. Lyons, Mrs. John S. McCright, Mrs. W. G. McClain, Mrs. D. O. Chestnut, Mrs. C. H. McLean, Mrs. A. T. Hicks, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. H. T. Russ, Mrs. Edwin Reese and Miss Mary McLean.

W. M. U. to Observe Day of Prayer.

The Gordon Street Baptist W. M. U. will observe Tuesday as a day of prayer for home mission work.

The ladies will serve lunch at the noon hour. A splendid program has been arranged by Mrs. W. H. Arnold, secretary. Dr. J. M. Haymore, of the First Baptist church, Denatur, will deliver an inspirational address at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. F. J. Tate will speak on the young people's work and various phases of the home mission activities will be discussed during the day. The meeting will commence promptly at 10 o'clock.

Miss Wright Weds Jack Kirby Craft.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright announce the marriage of their sister, Jennie Mae, to Jack Kirby Craft, on Saturday afternoon, March 3, at 4 o'clock.

The marriage was solemnized at the home of Dr. F. C. McConnell on Ponce de Leon avenue in the presence of the families and a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Craft are at home in 142 Sinclair avenue.

"Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of canned beef in Atlanta, Ga., for week ending Saturday, March 3, 1925, on shipments sold out, ranged from 10.00 cents to 16.50 cents per pound and averaged 12.37 cents per pound."—Advt.

National Silk Week Sponsors a Lavishly Beautiful Display of

The Romance of Silk

Tut-ankh-amen in his royal tomb, surrounded by treasures and splendors that are dazzling the eyes of our modern world, seem to us to represent the most remote culture and civilization that has existed.

Yet, fifteen hundred years before the days of this ancient Pharaoh, silk culture and weaving were being carried on in that most remarkable of ancient Empires—China!

In 2640 B. C. the wife of a famous Emperor encouraged the raising of the silk worm and to her is credited the invention of the first loom for weaving silk.

China jealously guarded the secrets of this art. The industry was controlled by the nobility, and for many hundreds of years the outer world knew nothing of it.

Naturally, China's nearest and ever-jealous neighbor, Japan, was the first to gain any knowledge of the secret.

In some unknown way the Japanese obtained knowledge of it at a most remote period.

What more natural, though, what more fitting, than for the spread of knowledge concerning this most exquisite of fabrics to have its real origin in a lovers' intrigue!

Tradition has it that a princess of old China escaped to her lover in India with the eggs of the silk worm, and the seeds of the mulberry tree concealed in her head dress.

From India the knowledge spread to Persia—and to ancient Greece. Aristotle first mentions this wonderful fabric in Western literature, and the old Romans came to know of it as a most precious article of commerce and trade worth its weight in purest gold!

Two Persian monks brought the silk worm eggs and secrets of weaving from China to the Emperor Justinian in the year 550. Thus started an industry which spread and supplied the Western world for the next 1,200 years.

Venice and Milan in medieval times became famous for silken fabrics, and later France, then England undertook to encourage the industry of silk.

By the year 1619 James I urged the culture of silk on the colonists of Virginia. Bounties and rewards were offered and learned essays and even rhymes were written to encourage the industry—as this quaint example—

"Where Wormes and Food do naturally abound
A gallant Silken trade must there be found.
Virginia excels the world in both—Envie no malice can gaine say this truth!"

Though America has never excelled in silk culture, we lead the world in its use—taking more than all the rest of the world combined!

The Miracle of Silk

Within silken prison walls a tiny life stirs. There is a struggle—minutely unimportant in itself, but as one of countless millions involving the silk industry of the world!

The little Cycle of Life must complete its course, so nature has provided a way. The end of the cell is moistened while tiny pincers claw and rend.

Soon a hole is made and a little gray-white moth crawls forth on wobbly legs to see its world. It rests a few moments on its prison walls—a yellow silk cocoon, firmly bound to a twig which has been placed on the feeding table for the purpose.

But Nature urges on. Time is brief. In a life span of four to six days the moth lays eggs to five hundred or more—eggs so minute that about one hundred will make a grain! Very soon tiny worms emerge from the eggs and feed on young mulberry leaves which are supplied fresh very frequently.

These little worms are most voracious eaters and increase in size rapidly, in a few weeks becoming full-fledged caterpillars. At maturity the caterpillar ceases eating and takes a brief rest.

At this stage small branches of brushwood are placed on the feeding tables.

Each caterpillar selects a little twig, and starts about spinning its own cell.

It casts its tiny silken lines here and there for anchorage—quite regardless of the yards of thread expended. Nature seems to have provided an endless supply.

Each caterpillar spins a continuous thread of from 800 to 1,200 yards! The web is woven thicker and denser, till finally it centers in a cocoon so closely and compactly woven that no way is known to separate the threads. In three or four days the cell is finished. The spinning ceases.

The cycle is complete.

A few days later the cocoons are collected and all the surrounding webs of silk are carefully removed by intricate processes to be spun later into the silks we know.

So delicate are these web-like threads of fibers that from four to twenty are included in a single strand of silk, afterwards woven by many processes into the beautiful silks of commerce.

Various Uses of Silk

The many uses of silk aside from wearing apparel and in the home would make a truly surprising list, but we do not feel that it would be of particular interest here.

Perhaps it will be a matter of surprise, however, to know that there are just sixteen distinct departments in our store that deal largely, if not exclusively, with silken fabrics or products!

One's shopping list needs must be a very short one these days not to include articles of a silken nature.

"OLD RELIABLES" RETURN TO WGM

Warner's Seven Aces Celebrate Return by Jamming Ether Full of Popular Orchestration.

"We have with us this evening Warner's Seven Aces for a full forty-five minute program of orchestra. The Aces have a number of "brand new" selections which will be heard for the first time in Atlanta on tonight's 6 to 7 o'clock broadcast.

Well, we wanted Warner's Seven Aces. The Constitution's celebrated orchestra, and we got them—now, what are we going to do? There isn't anything to do but just jam "good" music, and that's what we're doing. The Aces were heard (it isn't necessary to say so, but it begins a paragraph properly) on the 6 to 7 o'clock program at this station last night for the first time in several days. But, it was a glorious program. The Aces were glad to be back "on the job" and the pleasure was mutual. Byron Warner, director of the noted Atlanta orchestra, has been spending the last two weeks with "home folks" down in Silverport, La., and during his absence the Aces have been "cutting classes" or WGM programs, to be more explicit. But "teacher" is back and "school took in" in jam-up shape last night.

"The nice will play," etc., but the "cat" has returned now and the stock of orchestration has experienced a jump. Director Warner has issued all instructions concerning timing, habits, etc., and his schedule promises to take a few inches from the waist of certain members of the orchestra who "broke training" during Byron's absence.

What we started out to say, though, is that the Aces will be heard at Station WGM on the early program of the first five days in each week hereafter.

BRILLIANT TRIO AT WGM TONIGHT

A trio of Station WGM's most brilliant and popular radio stars will feature the 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. tonight. Mrs. Irene Free, Miss Olive Walker and John Scharf will be presented to listeners by Signor
E. Rolpi, celebrated Atlanta teacher of voice and each of opera, who will give the piano accompaniment for each number.

Mrs. Free and Miss Walker are pupils of Signor Rolpi and are well known to radio fans in America.
Mrs. Scharf is one of the south's leading cornet soloists and has been heard many times at this station.

Mrs. Free's wonderful lyric soprano voice has endeared her to countless music lovers of the nation.
Her beauty of tone and exceptional range is too well known to require comment. Combined with her markedly flexible and pleasing voice, she is a most charming and gifted young matron whom fans of this station enthusiastically enjoyed when she visit she makes to WGM's studio.

Miss Walker is a talented and winsome young lady who possesses a dramatic soprano voice of exquisite brilliancy and purity of tone. She is very popular with fans of this WGM programs as real treats. Her selections for tonight's program include a number of favorite songs which will display the depth and beauty of her voice to rare advantage.

John Scharf, as cornet soloist, is one of the south's best known musicians. He is a hand master of unusual ability and has had many years experience in things musical. He will intersperse the vocal numbers tonight with cornet solos in his own incomparable manner.

CERTAINLY WILL!

WGM—Sirs:
Would you kindly send me a picture of your station. I listen for you before other stations because of your loudness and clearness.

UNUSUAL OFFERING FROM STATION WGM

Popular Orchestras and

"Your concert coming in excellent and large party of friends enjoying it. Many thanks for special numbers for me.
J. E. DANIELS,
Pensacola, Fla.

The foregoing telegrams received during last night's 9:30 to 10:30 p.m.
program at this station are self-explanatory.
Mrs. Shipman is special writer for Radio Digest, the well-known weekly radio magazine, and J. E.
Daniel is a radio enthusiast of Pensacola who recently paid this station a very pleasant call.

The Warner-Davis Southerners, widely-known Atlanta jazz orchestra, and Mrs. Marcelle Stanton Megale, soprano, and Miss Jeanne Wynne, pianist, were presented on the late program from this station. It was one of the most successful and thoroughly enjoyable broadcasts in the history of WGM.

The Southerners were going "great grats" throughout the evening and scores of telephone requests for special numbers attests to the popularity which this splendid musical organization enjoys in Atlanta. All the late and popular song and dance numbers were given in a new and breezy style by the Southerners. Lovers of orchestra music will be delighted to hear that the Southerners will be heard again from this station at an early date.

In Mrs. Megale's Station WGM presented one of the most brilliant mezzosopranos in the south, whose appearance on last night's program was an unusually triumph. Her "My Buddy,"
"His Lullaby," "Your Eyes Have Told Me So," and other wonderful selections were never given more perfectly than by this young mezzo-soprano who has so recently flashed across the musical horizon of the south as a danzling comet. Mrs. Megale's flawless technique, the absolute purity of the soprano tones, and her perfect intimation always gives the keenest delight to the appreciative listener. Indeed, this gifted young star was never heard to better advantage than last night, and fans will enthusiastically welcome the announcement that she will be heard again from WGM on March 14.

Miss Wynne, charming and delicious at all times, played the piano accompaniment for Mrs. Megale's numbers last night in a masterly manner. She displayed all the delicate touch of a real artist. Miss Wynne is one of the nation's most popular radio entertainers, and is an idol of this station. Her piano accompaniments have a fullness of volume and a richness of quality which distinguished her from the ordinary pianist.

As a whole, last night's offering was one of the outstanding programs in the long history of unexcelled musical programs at this station, and of that variety and quality which appreciative listeners thoroughly enjoy.

Comedy at the Forsyth Masterpiece of Humor

"The Gold Fish," a comedy, by Gladys Unger, was presented at the Forsyth theater Monday night by Belle Bennett and the Forsyth Players. Last, in order of appearance, the following:
Alice Baker
The Voice of the Lady Who Was Below.
Jennie Pugh, who, Katharine Givney
Jenny... BELLE BENNETT
Countess... JOHN LITTEL
Countess... ELLER KENNEL
Herman Kraus... Robert W. Bailey
Helen, the Maid... ELLER KENNEL
The Count's Assistant... Gladys Unger
Hamilton J. Power... Walter Marshall
Wilson, the Butler... Stuart Beebe
The Duke of Middle Sex... Rankin Mansfield

The production is billed as a comedy, and concerns Jenny and her spectacular climb up the ladder of the social ladder from a Twenty-fourth street "cutie" to a woman who finally stands at the summit of social position, thought and even by royalty.
Jenny is the first of the social climber, a pair of sky blue pajamas, full of pep and delicious slang. Her singer-husband is played by Mr. Lyle. The comedy maintains that he has overcome his jealous disposition, but ties in a rage when his better half receives a third letter from a fat business man in an office across the street, who is 45 years old and has never "felt like that before."

Action Masterpiece.
The first act is a masterpiece of action. Events move with lightning-speed. Miss Bennett and her Jenny is wholly unlike anything she has ever done before. Her mastery of New York slang is complete. She is thoroughly the part she plays. Thoroughly a little kania, and when she meets the count who wants to teach her manners, you wonder if he has not overestimated his ability.

In the second act, after she has given her husband the "gold fish," you notice some of the fruits of the count's coaching. There is a divorce between each act, and in the third she is a real widow, dressed in a most bewitching black gown.

Costumes Are Startling.
Miss Bennett's costume changes are startling, and whoever arranged the stage settings had them in mind when the wardrobe items were chosen. The setting is the first act, a little apartment on Twenty-fourth street, in keeping with local atmosphere. The scenic decorations in the second act again reflected the development of the plot, and the act, with a gold fish in the center of a staircase landing in a room done in blue, was quite the finishing touch. The scene seemingly was built for Miss Bennett's gowns.

Good Characterization.
Mr. Forbes, as the count, showed himself to be capable of playing such roles. Miss Givney, as Jenny's friend who has hard luck in landing husbands, handles her part quietly and as it seems that it should be handled.

Mr. Mansfield, as the duke in the third act, adds a bit of genuine characterization as a droll Englishman.

GLAD IN PANAMA CHASES BIG LAR

Crockett Wins Race With Hungry Negro—Auto
Thief Escapes After Gun
Play on Ponce de Leon.

Clad only in his pajamas, J. R.
Crockett Monday night chased an alleged negro burglar from his home, 61-
A Summit avenue, to Forrest avenue, where he fled the fugitive under cover of his revolver until police arrived, according to reports of arresting officers at police headquarters.

The negro, giving his name as Phil-more Griffith, told police he was hungry and had entered the Crockett home about 10:30 o'clock in search of food.
Mrs. Crockett was awakened as she walked around the house and aroused her husband with her screams. He leaped out of bed, secured his pistol and gave chase to the black, who dove through a window in an effort to escape.

An unidentified negro earlier in the evening had fired several shots at a Mr. Jones, residing in an apartment at 120 Ponce de Leon avenue, in an effort to escape after Jones had discovered him in the act of attempting to steal his automobile, according to a report made by J. M. Cray, residing in the same apartment house. The shots did not cause any damage, but a young girl, skating on a nearby sidewalk, fainted from fright, according to the police report.

DECATUR CITIZENS FAVOR BOND ISSUE FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Decatur, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)
A resolution endorsing the proposed issue of $100,000 in bonds for school improvements and water works was passed at a enthusiastic mass meeting of the citizens of Decatur held tonight.

William Schley Howard, Charles D.
McKinney, Mrs. T. N. Fulton, Mrs.
John DeSaunders, Mrs. J. H. Glick, director of public welfare department, Parent-Teacher association of Georgia, and Mrs. H. C. Woodall delivered addresses. Scott Candler presided.

MRS. I. SPRINGER SAYS MRS. RAISEN SHOULD BE FREED

Mrs. Lillian S. Raisen, New York woman who was sentenced to 20 years to life imprisonment for killing Dr.
Abraham Glickstein in New York, is entitled to a new trial and to acquittal, according to a statement made by Mrs.
I. Springer, of Sparta, former Atlantan, who was here in the interests of a pardon for a Hancock county negro.

Mrs. Springer stated that she had come in close contact with Dr. Glickstein while he was serving a sentence in the federal prison in Atlanta for selling cocaine. She said that his character was not good and that she believed he had wronged Mrs. Haisen in a way that justified her in taking his life.

Mrs. Springer is expected to return from New Orleans some time Tuesday.
It was stated at his residence Monday night.

According to dispatches from the Louisiana city, Mr. Spaulding identified the prisoner as being the man who, he says, defrauded him out of $2,500 in a bad check transaction.
Extradition of Deibel will be sought at once, it was indicated.

SPALDING SWINDLED Atlanta Attorney Goes To Identify Check Crook.

Before leaving for New Orleans to identify the prisoner here, three charges of swindling him out of $2,500.
Attorney Hughes Spaulding swore out a warrant in municipal court here, charging Fred F. Deibel, Jr., the man held with cheating and swindling, with the check transaction disclosed
Monday.

Mr. Spaulding is expected to return from New Orleans some time Tuesday.

GLASS WILL INSIST ON CRONKHITE PROBE

Washington, March 5.—If the war department will set in the case of Major-General Cronkhite, retired, Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, according to plans outlined today by him, will introduce a resolution when congress reconvenes for thorough inquiry by the senate military committee.

A resolution of investigation was drafted last week by Senator Glass, but he was informed that it would meet with objection and he withheld it, convinced that the short time before adjournment made adoption impossible. Before he had been returned his resolution when informed that the war department did not regard evidence of alleged tampering with official files bearing on the death at Camp Lejeune, in 1918, of Major A. P. Cronkhite, the general's son, as sufficient to warrant action by a board of inquiry.

Hammond Coming South to Inspect Mines in Alabama

Constitution Bureau, Hotel Raleigh.
Washington, March 5.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Chairman John Hammond of the United States coal fact-finding commission, left today for Birmingham, Ala., where he will be joined by Commissioners Clark Howell, of Atlanta, and former Vice President Marshall, on a personal trip of inspection of coal mines in the section. The Alabama fields will be the first of a series of investigations to be conducted.

After a week or ten days the three commissioners will study the working conditions of mines located in other sections of the country with the view of obtaining first-hand information for the final report on the coal industry, ordered by an act of congress. It was stated a particular study will be made of working conditions in the mines living conditions of the miners and methods of production.

Leide Composition
Given as Prologue
By Don Ferrandou

For First Time Howard Theater Director Presents
Music of Own.

Week after week the thousands of people attending the Howard theater have seen Enrico Leide prologues.
And they have left the theater at the end of the show with a feeling that more than ever that Enrico Leide is not only a musical genius, but an impressionist as well.

But as people attend the Howard theater this week, they will be more than ever impressed with the ability of Mr. Leide as a producer of notable prologues.

"Anavus," the title of this week's prologue, however, is not to the credit of Enrico Leide alone. Don Ferrandou, the internationally known baritone, who sings the leading role in the prologue, does much to make the prologue the success it is, not only in his musical role but in the part that concerns the production itself.

This week marks the first production in the Howard of an Enrico Leide composition. The lyric for this was by Don Ferrandou. Mr.
Leide has struck the Wagnerian style in his music to depict the emotions of the prehistoric age.

The Sea Bride

They packed the ambergris away in the captain's storeroom; the compartment at the bottom of the Sally, under the cabin, in the very stern. It rested there among the barrels and casks of food and the general supplies. . . . But it was not forgotten; it could not be forgotten. From its hiding place, the ambergris made its influence felt all over the vessel. It was like dynamite in its potentialities for mischief. The mates in the steerage discussed it over and over; the men forward in the fore-cabin argued about it endlessly.

CHAPTER VI

Faith had assured herself, from the beginning, that Brander had no real intention of claiming the ambergris as his personal booty. He was too sensible for that, she felt; and he was not greedy. . . . The ambergris was properly a part of the Sally's takings. . . . Brander must see it so. Did he mean to push his claim, to make trouble?

She tried to find the answer to this question in Brander's face; she began to study him daily. . . . She perceived the strength of the man, and his poise and assurance. Brander was very sure of himself and of his capabilities, without in the least overrating them. He knew himself for a man; he bore himself as a man. Faith respected him; without her realizing it, this respect and liking grew. Unconsciously, Brander was ranked now and then in her thoughts beside her husband, Noll Wing; she compared the two men without being willing to make the comparison. And in the process, she studied Noll Wing more closely than she had ever studied him before. It was all this time that she first marked the fact that Noll was shrinking, wasting the flesh from his bones. His skin was becoming loose; it sagged. His great chest was drawing in between his shoulder; his shoulders slumped forward. Also Faith saw, without understanding, that hollows were forming about him; when she told him what she had done, he exclaimed:

"God's sake, Faith, quit fussing over me. I got along more'n twenty years without a woman."

Then Sally came, abruptly, into a sea that was full of whales. At nightfall they had not smelled oil for weeks; at dawn there were spots on three quarters of the horizon and thereafter for more than a month there were never three successive days when they did not sight whales.

This turn of luck brought three things to pass: Roy Kilcup had his first chance in the boats during the chase; Brander killed his first whale as an officer of the Sally; and Noll Wing killed the last cachalot that was ever to feel his lance.

It was a big whale, as big as most whalesmen ever see, the biggest Noll himself had ever killed. A huge thing for old Noll Wing had driven his last lance. He was tired; the fire was dying in the captain's eyes. He pulled Brander's coat about his great shoulders, huddled into it. He scarcely moved when they reached the Sally. Brander helped him aboard. Dan'l Tobey cried: "A great fight, sir. Six hours; and two stove boats. . . . but you killed!"

Noll wagged his old head, looked around for Faith, leaned heavily upon her arm.

"Take me down, Faith," he said. "Take me down. For I am very tired."

One-eyed Mauger sought out Brander three days later. Brander had been decent to him from the beginning; and Mauger, who had been changed from a venomous and evil thing into a cackling cheerful nonentity by Noll Wing's blow and kick, repaired to Brander with a devotion almost humbling. "There's chatter forward," said Mauger. "They're talking dirt."

Brander's voice fell. "Who?"

"Clatter was the first. Others now. Dirt."

Brander looked about the deck; there was no one within hearing. He asked quietly: "What kind of dirt?"

Mauger looked up and grinned unhappily and apologetically. "You know," he said, "you and—her."

Brander's eyes hardened; he said, under his breath, "Thanks, Mauger." And he walked away from where the one-eyed man was scribbling. Mauger rose on his knees to look after the fourth mate with something like worship in his eyes.

Brander went aft with his problem. Brander considered the members of the crew; the foremost hands. Brander's task was to help these men. He could not himself go into the fore-cabin and strike; to do so would only spread the filth of words abroad. But—one thing he could do. He saw the way.

Avoid Faith. . . . That would eyes steady, masked what he felt. Noll beckoned with a crooked finger.

"Come 'ere," he said huskily. Brander faced him. They were in the after-cabin; and Noll sat still. "We're staying here a day," he said. Brander nodded. "Wood and stores, sir, I suppose."

Noll nodded heavily. "Oh, are you? Something else, Mr. Brander. I'm going to leave here that man in your boat, Mauger."

Brander's lips tightened faintly; he held his voice. "Mauger?" He echoed. "Why? What's wrong with him?"

"Don't want him around any more," said Noll slowly. "Why not?" Brander insisted.

Noll's lips twitched with the play of his nerves, and he poured a drink and lifted it to his mouth with unsteady fingers. He sat down the glass, spilling a little of the liquor, and he wiped his mouth with the back of his hand. "I had 'casion to discipline Mauger. And now he's got a knife for me. He's goin' to kill me. I ought to him; put the man shore' stead of that."

Brander smiled reassuringly. "Mauger's harmless, sir. And he does his work."

Noll shook his head. "I know 'im. He's a murderer. I'm going to put him ashore."

The fourth mate hesitated; then he said quietly: "All right. If he goes, I go too."

Noll's head jerked back as if he had been struck; and his red eyes roared. He eyed Brander steadily, and he hesitated unsteadily. "What's that?" he asked. "What's that you say?"

"I say I'll go if he goes," said Brander. "He does his work. I'll not be a party to putting him ashore."

"The man shipped for the cruise," said Brander. "He does his work. I'll not be a party to putting him ashore."

Noll raised a hand. "Don't speak of God," he said reprovingly. "You don't understand Him, Mr. Brander. Brander said nothing; and Noll's hand dropped and he whinnied: "Man can't do what he wants on his own ship."

Brander said: "Do as you like, sir. I think you should let him stay. He means no harm."

Noll waved his hand. "Oh, a right, he agreed. Say no more 'bout it at all. Let 'em keep 'em; keep 'em, Mr. Brander. But listen. I know one thing. He's goin' to knife me some night. I know. He's a murderer. And you're defending him."

Birds of a feather flock together, Mr. Brander. The captain got unsteadily to his feet, raised a threatening hand. "When he kills me; just remember. My blood's on your own head, sir."

Brander hesitated; his heart revolted. His impulse was to leave the ship, take Mauger, trust his luck. . . . But he thought of Faith. This man, her husband, was dying. He could see that. And when he was gone, there would be trouble aboard the Sally. Faith herself meant trouble; the ambergris in the captain's storeroom meant more trouble might well be that Faith would need him in that day. . . . He could not leave her.

He said quietly: "I take that responsibility."

Noll was slumped into his chair again. "Go 'way," he said, and waved his hand. "Go 'way."

That night, in the small hours, Noll screamed in a way that woke the ship; he had come out of drunken slumber, desperate with a vivid hallucination that appaled him. . . . He thought that Mauger was at him with a sheath knife, and that Brander was at Mauger's back. Faith and Dan'l fought to soothe him; Faith, in her loose dressing gown, her hair in its thick braid. . . . Dan'l had more eyes for Faith than for Noll. He had never seen her thus before; never seen her so beautiful; never seen her, he thought, so desperately to be desired. . . . His lips were wet at the sight of her. . . . he thrashed Slatter for idling at the windlass when a blanket strip was being hoisted, and for impudence. . . . And Slatter was his enemy thereafter, Dan'l saw, and understood. . . . Here was his tool; Dan'l waited only the occasion. There was a way to make that.

It was one of the duties of Roy, a ship's boy, to fetch up stores from this room at command; he was accustomed to fill Noll Wing's bottles now and then. Dan'l saw he might use Roy; and he did so without scruple. "I've need for liquor, Roy," he told the lad. "But I'd not ask Noll. . . . He's jealous of the stuff, as you know. So when next you're down, fill a jug. . . . Fetch it up to me."

He made pretext of Slatter's next small failure at the work to beat the man into a bleeding pulp. . . . No word of Faith in this; he thrashed Slatter for idling at the windlass when a blanket strip was being hoisted, and for impudence. . . . And Slatter was his enemy thereafter, Dan'l saw, and understood. . . . Here was his tool; Dan'l waited only the occasion. There was a way to make that.

CHAPTER VII

They came to the Solander grounds with matters still in this wise. Brander much with the crew; Noll Wing rotting in his chair in the cabin. Faith gaining strength of soul with every day; Dan'l playing upon Noll, upon Roy, upon all those about him to his own ends. . . . Slatter had crossed Brander's path. To his sorrow. The loose-tongued man dropped some word of Faith which Brander heard, and Brander removed. . . . He made pretext of Slatter's

TECH HIGH LOSES CHANCE TO WIN CITY PREP TITLE

G. M. A. Cadets Take Fast Game; Final Score 23-19; Luke Woodall Breaks Leg

University Has Narrow Escape With Marist Team, While Boys' High Has Easy Time With Fulton Quintet.

BY ROY E. WHITE.

Tech High lost a golden opportunity to win the city prep basketball title Monday afternoon when the fast G. M. A. team took the Smithies into camp on a 23 to 19 score. Tech High also lost one of its best forwards when Luke Woodall broke his left leg just above the ankle in the first half of its play. Luke had just started off on a dribble when a G. M. A. guard was close on him and his knee was twisted and the leg broken. He was carried to the Davis-Fischer sanitarium. It was found that it was a twisted break. It will be a hard blow to the Smithies.

The victory for G. M. A. puts University school and Tech High in a tie for first place in the league standing and the season will formally close this afternoon. In all probability the season will end in a tie as the constitution provides that no games shall be played after the season ends, which is today.

Other results Monday afternoon were: Boys' High won from Fulton, 35 to 6; University nosed out Marist, 19 to 14 in the lowest scoring game of the entire season and Commercial High won from Decatur, 37 to 35.

Good on Offense.

G. M. A. put up one of the greatest offensive games yet seen on a local floor, and the Smithies had the lead only once and that was early in the first half. G. M. A. was leading Tech High, 10 to 3, when the first half ended, but soon after the second half began G. M. A. ran up a large score and then played a defensive game.

Not only was the offensive game of G. M. A. good but the defensive was the best of the prep league this season. The first Tech High goal in the game was scored in the first half and was held to only six field goals during the entire game, two of these coming in the first half and four in the latter part.

Henry, the big center on the G. M. A. five, was responsible for the victory. He scored a total of seven field goals directly under the basket on follow up shots. He ran and in the second half scored five field goals in succession. Captain Patton also played a great game, getting only one field goal during the play and making two fouls out of three attempts. His passing played well with Tech High in the final minutes of play.

Cadets Fight Hard.

G. M. A. fought all the way and soon after the game began the Cadets jumped into the lead and were never headed. In the second half G. M. A. had a lead of eight points and the Smithies staged a last minute rally and scored two field goals.

The good game of the G. M. A. team can be seen in the fact that Tech High scored only two field goals in the first half. One by Bell and one by Brock. Brock scored his goal from almost the center of the court while Bell rang his horn from short range. In the second half of the game Tech High had very few chances to score from short range and every time the ball was in the danger zone some G. M. A. man would get in the way and stop a would-be score. Tech High was forced to take long shots in the game and lack of following up those long shots deprived the Smithies of a probable victory.

For Tech High the work of Brock, George and Woodall was good and his passing was very noticeable. Brock scored 13 points for Tech High, three field goals and 7 fouls out of seven attempts. George played a wonderful game at guard and was constantly on the G. M. A. forwards, but his short reach could do nothing with Henry under the basket.

The Lineups:

G. M. A. (23) Pos. T. H. I. G. H. (19) Patton (5) R. F. Woodall (10) O. G. (4) L. F. (2) Perry (2) Hearn (14) C. (1) Bell (4) P. (1) R. G. (1) George (13) Oosterhaudt (1) L. G. (1) Brock (13) Reference: Jones; substitutions, Tech High, Morris for Woodall; James for Morris.

U. S. B. Has Narrow Escape.

University school had a narrow escape when Marist came from behind and tied the score in the last three minutes of play. Angley cut loose with two field goals and one foul and sewed up the game. The final score was 19 to 14, with the "Bluebirds" on the long end.

The game was the lowest scoring match of the local season and extraordinary guarding and passwork were exhibited by both teams. In the first half of the game University was leading by a 11 to 8 score, but soon after the second half began, Marist had the score tied and it remained so for the major part of the second half.

Marist fought a great game all the way, but in the final minutes of play University cut loose with several long field goals and won the game. The entire Marist team was playing a jump ball game with the scoring being under the basket.

ST. LOUIS STARS LEAVE FOR CAMP

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—Kenneth Williams, Walter Gerber, Bill Jacobson, Martin McManus and Gene Robertson departed today for the St. Louis American's training camp at Mobile, Ala. Urban Shocker is scheduled to leave tomorrow. George Sisler has been granted permission to postpone his departure for several days. It was announced, Sisler's right shoulder, which was injured last season, is reported to be in good condition.

FIGHTER CANCELS BOUT WITH TOM GIBBONS

New York, March 5.—Jack McAuliffe, the novice heavyweight from the Pacific slope, will not be able to keep that date to have his looks altered by Tom Gibbons on March 19. They were to entertain the public in Madison Square Garden, New York, taking the place of Floyd Johnson, who was withdrawn from this dangerous match to take another still more dangerous one with Jess Willard later on. McAuliffe is reported to be ill in Detroit.

Tex Rickard, the promoter, is trying to enlist Harry Greb for the war with Gibbons in place of McAuliffe. The last time Gibbons and Greb fought, more than a year ago, Greb won the decision by knocking him out around Gibbons and slapping him everywhere between the ankles and the eyebrows. It was one of the most enthusiastic mix-ups in the memory of the fight addicts.

WILL BRING BODY OF JOCKEY BACK HOME

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 5.—The body of R. M. Anderson, noted race horse jockey, who was killed in an accident on the track at Tia Juana, Mexico, last Friday is being brought to Chattanooga, his former home, for burial and is expected to reach here Wednesday night. Anderson was son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Anderson, of this city. For nine years he was on the Canadian circuit and was widely known all over the country.

BARRON OUT FOR TRACK

Pinkie Daves, captain of the track team at Tech, was wearing a broad smile yesterday for two or three reasons. The first was that he has been definitely decided that Red Barron will be eligible for the track team this year. Pinkie says he has wanted Red for a sprint man for many years, and this time his wish has come true. The S. I. C. has officially ruled Red out of baseball at Tech.

Red has played four years of baseball at Tech, making the team as a freshman. But, his freshman year was in the days of the S. A. T. C. In view of the fact that the S. I. C. officially threw out the year 1918-19 from football record, it seemed plausible to suppose that it would do likewise in baseball. But the gentlemen could not see it that way. So Red is lost to Coach Clay and his baseball team and an addition to Pinkie Daves and his track team.

Red, though much perturbed, found that there was a silver lining after all. "I have always liked to run, but the call of baseball was a little stronger than track," he said. "I have fixed me from baseball, I'm going into strict training, and try to win some of those hundred and twenty dashes this year," said Red. Red won the hundred last year over the class of the south, and he seems to get a little faster each day.

SPORT COMMENT

BY HENRY ALLEN

Has Good Record.

Jackie Clark, the Allentown, Pa., fighter, who meets Young Strickling, Macon's sensational middleweight, in a ten-round bout at the auditorium Friday night, has by far the best record of any other fighter that the Macon youngster has ever met.

A list of the middleweights that he has beaten over are Tommy McGee, Mike McTigue, Mike O'Dowd, Aubrey Ratner, Frank Carbone, Tommy Higgins, Joe Chin, George Chip, Soldier Sarfield. All of these are well-known in the pugilistic world and ranked at the top.

The lightweight who he holds a draw or a decision over are Tommy McGee, Harry Greb, Chubby Wiggins, Fay Kelsner, George Robinson, Steve Chonyski, Joe Lohman and Ed Tremblay.

Wilson Dodges Fight.

Johnny Wilson, recognized as middleweight champion in a majority of the states, has repeatedly dodged bouts with Clark and large purses that have been offered by promoters could not induce the so-called champ into the ring with Jackie.

Arya and Wilson was slated to box Clark in Columbus, Ohio, but following the fight with Johnny Wilson, Downey immediately crawled while protests to the boxing commission to force the fight were ignored.

Fought Harry Greb.

Clark fought Harry Greb to a 20-round draw and after Harry won the light heavyweight title from Gene Tunney he immediately canceled a bout with Clark which had been scheduled for three weeks later. Greb has refused to box Clark after time to box Clark while he held the title.

Clark has been fighting for ten years. His first fight was a ten-round draw with Gene Tunney. Clark in 1914 at South Bethlehem, Pa., while his latest fight was with Harry Krohn of Akron. He won the decision in easy style. Krohn was defeated by Strickling here several weeks ago.

Should Be Drawing Card.

The bout between Strickling and Clark should prove a great drawing card. Strickling has defeated all the legitimate middleweights in the south and has promoters are forced to look to other fields for his opponents.

Clark is considered as the most logical opponent for the Macon youngster, who has rapidly risen in the ranks and has been the sensation of the southern pugilistic world.

Strickling Second Fight.

This will be Strickling's second fight in an Atlanta ring in several months. He made his appearance here several weeks ago after an absence of months at Bradenton, Fla., that all of them probably will be retained by the Cardinals, according to dispatches received here. Hubert Pruett, who led the American league in effectiveness later, has founded into prime condition at the St. Louis American's training camp at Mobile, other dispatches declare.

CHICAGO TEAMS HOLD PRACTICE GAMES

Chicago, March 5.—Preliminary training of the Chicago National league club on Catalina island, was advanced to such a stage that today the first game of the season was called, a practice affair of five innings. Starting with the first game between teams led by Grover Cleveland Alexander, and Bobby Wallace, infield coach, the Cubs gradually will increase their playing to seven innings by Wednesday. The first game pitcher will bat two or three innings on the mound every other day.

While the Cubs rested yesterday, the Chicago American league club at Marlin, Texas, went through the best practice of the season, only to have to turn them last night when flames swept the Buie sanitarium where the White Sox have their training quarters. For three-quarters of an hour the White Sox wheeled out trunks and worked on the blaze. The second examination was successful.

Viewing the News

Unless you have been reading of the activities of preliminary fighters around Wichita, Kansas—which is one of those few communities believing that all wrestling is straight as the closest distance between two given points—you don't know any more about Billy Knox than Walk Miller knows about etiquette at King George's court.

Billy is a bantamweight prize fighter who admits that he is neither a champion nor the son of one, nor is he at all certain that he will reach the city after six days, not bad time when one recalls that this period included many instances when hard-hearted brakemen declined to listen to this kid who was out to locate his mother, if he had to get kicked by every pugilist in the United States while conducting the search.

His mother is Mrs. Laura Hendricks and Billy heard she was in Atlanta. He lost not a minute in catching a southbound freight and reached the city after six days, not bad time when one recalls that this period included many instances when hard-hearted brakemen declined to listen to this kid who was out to locate his mother, if he had to get kicked by every pugilist in the United States while conducting the search.

He kept books on his fistie doings. For instance he can show you in less time than it takes this correspondent to tell the tale that he has had 16 battles. For the first Billy received $5 and his "manager" cut in for half of that amount. Billy didn't care for he stopped his opponent in one round.

He was so nervous and scared that I forgot myself and tore right in," said Red. Red won the hundred last year over the class of the south, and he seems to get a little faster each day.

Since then Billy has had fifteen bouts and was honest enough to put down in the little book which is always with him, that he lost two of the decisions, but wasn't stopped. "I can take 'em all right," he then said. He never received more than $15 for any of his bouts until his last in Wichita.

Billy had agreed to go on for that amount and was in his corner when a red-faced individual, much the worse for the stuff that isn't supposed to be sold in this country, strolled over and announced that those belonging to Billy's opponent was offensive to the r. f. i. Would Billy be so kind as to knock it off, especially if fifty cents were added for every pop landed on the beeper?

Billy didn't like that nose either, so a deal was hatched up quickly, a lieutenant of police agreeing to act as the adding machine. At the start of the first round Billy led a left to the nose and the lieutenant rang up the sale. To make a long story short, the fight lasted three rounds, Billy put 36 jolts to the offending organ and pulled down $18 in addition to the regular fee.

Billy bought himself a new suit and the opposition went out on a canvass of shops in an effort to find what 1923 model noses were bringing in the open market, for his was mashed flatter than a pancake and covered as much territory as Kansas.

Two Georgia Stars Report For Baseball Practice

George Clark and Josh Watson Out With Squad for First Time Monday Afternoon.

Athens, Ga., March 5.—(Special).—Captain George Clark, Georgia's crack centerfielder, and Josh Watson, star second baseman on the university aggregation, reported to Coach Bill White at Sanford Field Monday for baseball practice. Both of these men have been detained from practice which has been in full swing at the university for several weeks because of basketball, but with the conclusion of the southern intercollegiate tournament in Atlanta last week these men are turning their attention to baseball.

With the exception of Ware Hutchings and "Red" Coyle, who did not return to school this year, the baseball team is now complete and baseball practice at the university has begun in earnest. J. D. Thompson has been shifted from the outfield to first base to fill the vacancy left by Cody and Coach White has a number of likely looking candidates for the "hot corner." There are also some good men who are working for the outfield position which will be left vacant if Thompson remains at first base.

ROOKIES MAKING GOOD WITH CARDS

St. Louis, March 5.—Hal Makin, California university shortstop; Third Baseman Eddie Dyer, versatile athlete from Houston, Texas, and Roscoe Holme, shortstop of Iowa university, have made such a good showing at the St. Louis National's training camp at Bradenton, Fla., that all of them probably will be retained by the Cardinals, according to dispatches received here. Hubert Pruett, who led the American league in effectiveness later, has founded into prime condition at the St. Louis American's training camp at Mobile, other dispatches declare.

FLORIDA TO PLAY WAKE FOREST NINE

Jacksonville, Fla., March 5.—The University of Florida will play Wake Forest in either Jacksonville or Tampa on October 27 in football, according to an announcement today by Professor P. L. The others are Army, Georgia Tech, Rollins' college, Alabama and Mississippi A. and M.

SOPH QUINT IS WINNER

The quintet of the sophomore medical class at Emory university met its first defeat of the season last night, when the freshman class five of the school of liberal arts staged a great come-back and in the last half won, 19 to 24.

The doctors jumped into the lead at the beginning and at the end of the first half the score stood 8 to 2 in their favor. They continued to hold the lead until near the end of the game when a brilliant rally by the freshmen sent them out into the lead. The famous Lester-Whitt combination at forward for the losers failed to function last night, while Logan and Stoval played best for the losers.

In the second game of the night the sophomores defeated the juniors, 30 to 15. The sophs jumped into the lead at the beginning and the outcome of the game was never in doubt. Newsome and Petterson played best for the losers while Tarver and Almand starred for the upper-class men.

U. S. MAY ENTER FEDERATION

London, March 5.—America may enter the international tennis federation and American players may contest for the world tennis championship. The British Lawn Tennis association in a general meeting Monday abolished the title "world championship" hitherto applied to the Wimbledon men's singles tournament, thereby waiving the perpetual right to hold the world championship at Wimbledon.

The United States Lawn Tennis association long insisted that the world championship should be played in the champion's own country and therefore refused to recognize the Wimbledon tournament of its champions as such. The arrangements are sent back to the international rules board for revision in conformity with the American objections.

GOV. VETOES RACING BILL

Indianapolis, March 5.—The Memorial day observance bill passed by the Indiana general assembly was vetoed by Governor McCray tonight. The measure as passed would have prohibited the running of the annual international 500-mile automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway on May 30.

Governor McCray's action on the measure followed an opinion by state attorneys General U. S. Lesh in which he held the bill to be unconstitutional. The measure now goes back to the assembly, which may pass it over the executive's veto, but as the Indiana legislature ends its session at midnight tonight, opponents of the bill say such action is hardly probable.

ABEL PICKED TO PROMOTE

Announcement was made yesterday that Jake Abel, former welterweight champion of the south, has been named as promoter for the American boxing program to be sponsored by them, in the place of Walker Miller, local promoter.

Miller has served in the capacity of promoter for the league for the past few years, and during the time he has been officially at its head many of the best boxers in the country have been brought here to meet local boys. Jake Abel was recently elected as referee for all bouts for the league and his election to the position of promoter came as no surprise.

Jake is well known in the south, having held the welterweight championship of the south for several years. During his career in the ring he met several of the best fighters in the country, among them Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world.

Jake recently retired from the ring as a fighter but has kept in close touch with pugilistic activities since that time. The league is to be complemented in the selection of Abel as a successor to Miller.

Players Sign Contract.

Memphis, March 5.—Joseph Bradshaw, pitcher, formerly with the Chattanooga and Nashville clubs of the Southern association, and Max Moore, catcher last season with Jackson of the Cotton States league, have signed contracts with the Toledo American association club. It was announced today, Bradshaw and Moore spent the winter in Memphis.

Yankees' King of Slugging Is Victim of Tough Breaks; Must Build Up Health Again

Pegler Has Observed That If Luck Breaks For Ruth Today, It Generally Goes In Other Direction Shortly.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, March 5.—Of all the lavish endowment which nature and fortune gave to Babe Ruth, the staid weather lunacy now retains very little besides his health and less of that than he used to have. Laid out on his broad, flat keel in a hotel room at Hot Springs, Ark., the Babe must reflect as he studies the topographical vagaries of his mattress, that strings of a stoutness are tied to all the gifts that are given the great.

Ruth has taken out of baseball and the sidelines of his vast celebrity more money than an average half dozen of his colleagues. In return he has made more money for the club owners of the whole American league than they could trace directly to any other half dozen stars of his period. He has done well for the players, too, by broaching the big money era of baseball in which the ordinary hard-carriers of the box-score have received higher pay than they would have otherwise.

But there lies the stricken slugger, weak and shaky, with the training season about to get under way, bereft of the coltish vigor which he was at least in financial despair, considering the fortunes he had handled in his time.

There were strings on all that money, as well as on the physical gifts that nature tossed in his lap. Ruth revealed a few weeks ago that he was starting from scratch this season to run up a little sinking fund against the time when he shall sink to the minors. If he wasn't broke he was at least in financial despair, considering the fortunes he had handled in his time.

But just when he had "come to" and filled his mind with practical resolves about the future, twerk! A string is yanked, his health flies out from under him and Babe Ruth lands flat on his back, troubled in his mind by the crazy tricks that fate is ever playing on a great big, happy-natured ball-player just trying to get along.

Ed Morgan, Tech Captain Makes Good Outfielder

Dennicke and Roane Report to Coach Clay Monday Afternoon for Practice.

BY JOHN STATION

Eddie Morgan, captain of the Tech basketball team, is coming through in great style in center field. It has been three years since Eddie played in the field and he was a little rusty as to whether he could fall back in line again. But it came back to him in a flash. Not having so much to worry about he can pay more attention to his hitting, which should be about 400 this year. He hit well above the 300 mark last year.

The outfield seems to fall around Morgan, Albright and Spangler at present. Eddie is playing center field, Albright left field, and Spangler right field. Kid Clay had quite an extensive game last Saturday, and that is the way he lined up the field on his varsity team. Edwards played first, Jennings, second; Turner, short, and Falm, third. He used several pitchers.

Gasson, one of Kid's "finds" this season, continues to pound the ball unmercifully. Kid has shifted him from catcher to third base to give him full opportunity for swatting the pill. In the little game Saturday, twice he knocked the ball into the stands back of right field for the regulation two-bagger.

There is no rest for the weary, say Dennicke and Roane. Life is just one sport after another. On Saturday night they play a good game of basketball, and on Monday afternoon both appear on Grant field in baseball uniform. Skinner is going to make some hop for second base this year. In view of the fact that Baby made his letter in his freshman year, he is due to repeat again. It was considerably bothered with a sore arm last year which kept him out of the line-up.

RACER GETS CABLE OF MOTHER'S DEATH

New York, March 5.—Maurice Brocco, the famous little Italian bike rider, is keeping to the track in the six-day race at Madison Square garden, with grief riding by his side. Brocco was flagged from the track and relieved by his partner in the four-month hours of early morning when the riders just trudge along, resting. He was handed a cablegram saying his mother was dead.
